Village trustee ballot maintains status quo

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Both cases were dismissed by the Lake County Circuit Court appealing the previous decision by the municipal officers electoral board to keep candidate John Moulchin's name on the ballot and to remove candidate George Close's name. The result is that the ballot will remain with incumbent candidates Barbara Porch and Larry Hanson, as well as candidates Mary Turner, Ralph Antonelli and Moulchin.

Close said he thought the case against him was petty and that he regretted that his name would not be on the ballot for residents to decide his fate. While it was found that Close had enough valid signatures on his petition, the board determined that he had not specified what position he was running for and his name was stricken on that basis.

Moulchin's inclusion had been questioned on the basis of residency. Though a resident of Antioch for over nine years, he currently is residing outside of Antioch while his new Antioch home is under construction.

Close

Moulchin

"I felt pretty confident all along (that his name would remain on the ballot)," said Moulchin, adding that was sorry all those who wanted to run for office couldn't. "The issue is over intent, and it has always been my intent to be a resident of Antioch. I'm frustrated over construction delays."

Moulchin said his builder has given him a move in date of April 10.

He said he feels he would make a good trustee as he has a strong financial background, and his job has well prepared him. "I work in transportation logistics," said Moulchin. "Eighty percent of my job is listening, and the other 20 percent is follow through. It's all about meeting expectations, and I feel I can do that."

In addition to helping the village "tighten up" the budget, Moulchin said he would like to see the board be more open with residents. "I want to see the board on the same page," he said. "You get three or four stories out there, and nobody knows what's true."

Antioch takes on DUI offenders

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Rating in the "top five" isn't necessarily a good thing. According to Ron Pavlock of the Illinois Department of Transportation, Lake County is number three in the State of Illinois for alcohol-related accidents and fatalities as a result of people driving under the influence.

Three members of the Antioch Police Department have distinguished themselves for their high number of DUI arrests, arrests that contribute to a leveling off DUI accidents as well as the injuries and fatalities that result. Officer William Splitt tops the list with 49 DUI arrests in the past two years followed by Officer Geoffrey Gutschow with 32 and Sgt. James Ruth with 26.

"It's a privilege to be here," said Pavlock, who was an officer himself for many years prior to his work for the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The officers were awarded certificates and pins for their efforts. Each pin had the number of DUI arrests made by each officer.

"I have a pin for 50 arrests for Officer Splitt," said Pavlock. "Watch out, out there."

Pavlock said last year there were 21,358 DUI arrests in the state.

"These officers are making a great impact," he said.

Extracurricular activities warrant random drug tests

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Beginning fall term 2003, students at Antioch Community High School District 117 participating in extracurricular activities will be subjected to random drug testing.

Supt. Dennis Hockney said the board began considering random drug testing after the U.S. Supreme Court upheld (June 27, 2002) that a school district in Tecumseh, Okla., had not violated the Fourth Amendment when it required students to consent to urinalysis testing for drugs to participate in any extracurricular activity. Measures to institute random drug testing were approved at the last regular board of education meeting.

Zion-Benton Township High School uses random drug tests for its athletics program.

Though procedures have not been put in place at this time, Hockney said students who fail the drug tests could not be suspended from school though they may be limited or exempt from participation in after school activities. "It will depend on the severity of the infraction," he said.

Urinalysis tests will be used to determine the presence of marijuana, cocaine, amphetamines and barbiturates but not steroids.

Phil Delany, board of education president, cast the only dissenting vote. He said, "I disagree with the Supreme Court ruling. To me, this goes back to the issue of probable cause."

It took months of working with the Antioch Police Department, the Village of Antioch, and attorneys on all sides for the board of education to approve and sign a memorandum of understanding that would allow the police department to use its drug-sniffing K-9 unit to check for drugs.

"These are two distinct issues," said Hockney. "This will likely be done through the dean's office and is under the control and operation of the school."

In the Tecumseh case, the Supreme Court ruled that the policy "is a reasonable means of furthering the school district's important interest in preventing and deterring drug use among its schoolchildren."

Hockney said there is a lesser expectation of privacy of after school events as they are voluntary, and students participating in them represent the school both at and away from the campus.

He added that the board favored adopting the measure, in part, because the American Drug and Alcohol Survey given to all ACHS students in the 1997-98 school year and again in the 2001-02 school year indicated that there had been a decrease in drug use across the board with the exception of athletics.

"The board didn't want to single out athletics (for random testing)," said Hockney. "With this ruling, all students involved in extracurricular activities will be subjected to random testing."

Students who fail the random testing will likely be referred for counseling. Hockney said, "The point isn't to punish students, but to solve the problem if there is one. If a student needs help, we want to ensure it's provided."

Police Chief Chuck Fagan said, "It's a continuing effort on the part of the board of education to keep the high school safe. I agree with the board's decision and feel it's a step in the right direction."

Dancers storm state, win with kick

By PJ BEEMER
Lakeland Correspondent

On March 15, the Antioch Varsity dance team boarded the bus that would take them to the University of Illinois, at Urbana-Champaign — the site of the Illinois Drill Team Association State Competition.

AAA Funk, the most popular category this year, was once again full of stiff competition — Saint Charles East and Fremd were the teams that most worried Antioch, said one member of the dance team, and was the first category in which Antioch competed. The squad performed as they always do, energetically and with attitude. Not always easy when you've got to remember which facial expressions go with each move and what combination

Updates on Antioch Golf Club should be completed in June

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Golf Club's makeover is on schedule and should be complete by June 1.

Bigger isn't always better, and the club that was originally built in 1920 had, had various additions to its main structure over the years and topping out at 27,000 square feet.

Manager Vince Juarez said there was too much space here, and downsizing was necessary.

He said the goal of the new building is to have a more efficient club at 5,700 square feet.

"There will be a club house with banquet facilities and a restaurant," explained Juarez. "Outside, there will be a big tent that will seat about 300 for golf outings and weddings."

Juarez added that even with 40-50 golf outings a year, there is too much unused space in the current clubhouse. "We want a building that is more efficient."

The building, mostly completed, touts a new look that is in keeping with the area. It is located at the intersection of Route 59 and Grass Lake Road and backs up to the new fire station.

District 33 honors retiring board members

Honorees have collectively served district for 28 years in different capacities

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Emmons School District 33 honored retiring board members Bruce Dille, Barbara Comstock and Dolores Schmelzer prior to its regular board meeting.

"This is a bittersweet occasion," said Supt. Matt Tabar. "We are pleased to recognize these outgoing members who have collectively contributed 28 years of volunteer work to the board (of education)."

Dille, who served 10 of his 12 years as board president, only missed two meetings in that entire time. Both Comstock and Schmelzer served eight years a piece, and Comstock is the current vice president.

Tabar said all three retiring members no longer have children who are students in the district and decided not to run for re-election. The trio was presented with individual clocks, but each inscribed "with appreciation for your dedicated service."

Typical for Dille, he acted as spokesman for the three and said, "It was a tough decision. You feel like you're always in the middle of something. If you're doing it right, you are."

Election of new board members is uncontested at this point. Justine Atkinson, current PTO vice president, is running as well as Damian England who is two-time co-chair of the referendum committee.

To fill the third slot, Mark VandenHeuvel has registered with the County Clerk as a write-in candidate. He was active in presenting the board with an alternative solution to cutting programs in the event the referendum is not approved.

Tabar said VandenHeuvel made the decision after he realized there wasn't a third candidate.

Anyone else wishing to be a write in candidate can register with the County Clerk on or before March 31. Write-in votes are only counted for candidates who have filed with the clerk.

'This is a bittersweet occasion. We are pleased to recognize these these outgoing members'

Midwest Choppers is two-time winner

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Coming off a Spectators Class win from the Easy Rider Custom Bike Show in Memphis, Tenn., Midwest Choppers Inc. of Antioch brought home more accolades from the Super Cycle Show held at McCormick Place and touted to be the Midwest's largest bike show and swap meet.

This time, the chopper built for village trustee, Larry Hanson, took second place in the Judges' competition and, again, wowed the spectators for a people's choice award.

"The team of judges made their decisions on Saturday when there was nobody there," said Dan "Boone" Kearns, service manager and vice president of the shop formerly known as Boone's. "There was big turnout; the place was a zoo."

Kearns said both he and Hanson are thrilled with the attention the bike is receiving. "How could you not be?" he asked.

For those who neither saw the bike in Memphis nor at McCormick Place, it, along with another bike built by Kearns, can be seen in the "Biker Babes" calendar. "They were looking for a blue bike and a green bike, so Larry's bike is in there with another one from our shop," he said.

By way of early notice, Midwest Choppers will be having an open house on May 10 with guest models from the calendar. Kearns said it would be a "coming out" party for the shop.

Girl Scouts help Blessed Trinity Food Pantry, but not with food

Local Troop collects personal care items to restock shelves

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Junior Girl Scout Troop 683 is helping out the Blessed Trinity Food Pantry by collecting personal care items such as shampoo and toothpaste to restock currently empty shelves. There is a collection box at Emmons School in the office, and items will be accepted until March 28.

"The girls just started helping out at Blessed Trinity this past week. People can request special items like paper towels and baby diapers, and the shelves were empty," leader Melonnie Hartl said.

Hartl said the girls took it upon themselves to organize the drive. "It made them feel really good about themselves to be there helping. While there was plenty of food, the pantry was out of many of the extras that were being requested."

Topping the list for requests are the following: paper towels; baby diapers, particularly in medium and large sizes; deodorant, men's and women's varieties; shampoo and conditioner; laundry detergent; dish soap and light bulbs. Other needed necessities include: baby juices and soy formula, baby bath, coffee, sugar, napkins, facial tissue, women's sanitary items, canned pet food and small-size bags of kitty litter.

Additionally, the girls have created a coupon box that they bring to the pantry with them on Tuesdays. "They clip and sort coupons by type," said Hartl. "They figure that any little bit (of savings) helps."

Hartl added that those visiting the pantry would be invited to help themselves to coupons of use for them. Those wishing to do so may also clip coupons for donation.

"I think the girls will be interested in helping at the pantry through the rest of the school year," said Hartl. "It's given them a great sense of accomplishment."

Local businesses are in the news

Businesses in Antioch have a wealth of news to share.

Free fudge was given away hourly and those who amply filled their sweet tooth were given a special gift.

PM&L Theatre is having its grand reopening and open house on Sunday, March 23 from 2:30-4:30 p.m.

Publicity director Betty Smouse said things are really shaping up, and the group is looking forward to showing off its revamped space to the community.

The first production in the renovated theater is "Guys and Dolls"

Mars Cleaning Service announced that Gregg Stoxen, also an Antioch resident, has just been certified to the status "stain resist carpet cleaning technician."

The business, that touts "out of this world service" is located in Antioch and has been serving Lake County since 1979.

Stoxen said the certification is important because, "If improperly cleaned, the properties that give this carpet its unique stain resist quality are removed and the warranty is voided."

OK, it's not strictly business. Emmons School students took away savings bonds worth hundreds of dollars for writing patriotic theme essays.

The VFW conducted the contest and Katie Smiley took first place in the school and third place in the district to receive a total of $200 in bonds. Ken Engbert and Kaitlyn Fox took second and third in the school for $75 and $50 respectively.

ACHS students receive leadership awards

Four seniors at Antioch Community High School have received awards for leadership contributions within St. Peter's parish and within the community.

The students are Gretchen Johnson, Michael Addison, Kenneth Dzike and Peter Phan. They attended a Vicariate I Annual Youth Leadership Award Banquet on March 18 at the Midlane Golf Resort in Wadsworth. The Vicariate I includes all of Lake County and Northern Cook County. Deanery A is the northern most division of Vicariate I, which includes all Lake County parishes and schools.

Gretchen Johnson received the Community Service and Social Justice Award. Gretchen helps at the Local Pad Site at St. Mark's Church in Lindenhurst. This facility provides overnight shelter for homeless people. Gretchen has made an ongoing commitment for over two years at that site.

Michael Addison, Kenneth Dzike and Peter Phan received awards in the category of Peer Ministry. Michael, Kenneth, and Peter have helped with the Youth Group and have been on the Planning Committee for Youth Events during their high school years.

Hoops for heart

Middle school students at Antioch Upper Grade School will shoot hoops to raise money for the fight against heart disease and strokes on March 24. About 100 students and teachers will participate in this sixth annual fund-raising event sponsored by the American Heart Association.

Hoops for Heart, a 3-on-3-basketball tournament, is a fun way to get young people involved in this lifesaving effort. It makes them aware of the importance of exercise for maintaining good health. The biggest benefit of Hoops for Heart, however, is that the money raised goes to fund potentially lifesaving research into heart and blood vessel diseases and educational and community programs.

Hoops for Heart also benefits students by involving them in community service and volunteerism. It shows kids that volunteering can be fun as well as beneficial to the community. Hoops for Heart empowers students as they provide vital community service and discover that they can make a difference.

At the same time, students enjoy group dynamics while participating in a fun-filled basketball event.

Youngsters who participate in Hoops for Heart obtain flat donations for their involvement in the event. In addition, they can earn thank-you gifts based on how much money they raise. The top three fund-raisers from the school will also be invited to attend a Chicago Bulls' event on April 11.

This includes the pre-game activities, Bulls' warm-ups, and the Bulls vs. Nets game.

Please help these students help others. When a student asks you to be a sponsor, support Hoops for Heart with whatever you can afford to give. For more information about this event, contact Cher'ee Molitor, Antioch Upper Grade School at 847-838-8337

Close said that since he will not be a candidate, his efforts will go toward supporting the campaigns of Barbara Porch and Ralph Antonelli.

Antonelli said his candidacy is structured around bringing the processes of local government back to "what they should be."

"There is a perception that the process is broken," he said. "Things are not being done in an upright and open manner. I would like to see a professional attitude and style within the village."

Antonelli added that he feels the village has gotten away from a true democracy and that debate should be a part of the process. "What is the point of having citizen input, if you aren't going to listen?" he questioned. "We ought to let people talk and weigh all the information."

As to whether he feels he can work with the current administration after public fights, Antonelli said, "I can work with any reasonable person. The mayor and I may not agree, but we should be able to sit and have a discussion. I know I can do that."

Antonelli said he sees his strengths as experience through being heavily involved with the community for the 30 years he has lived here as well as his ability to analyze information and make intelligent decisions.

Out-of-the-limelight candidate Mary Turner said she would like to see a balance between residential and commercial uses within the village, and would like to see sales tax dollars remain at home.

"I want to keep sales tax dollars here, but of course I want it done right," she said. "The Route 173 corridor is a start, but I would also like to see all the empty downtown stores filled. That includes doing something with the former Country Pontiac that is now somewhat of an eyesore."

She added that there is no reason Antioch has to lose its "Norman Rockwell" feel, and that the village can remain beautiful even with commercial development.

Turner, who has lived in Antioch her entire life, confirmed that she is the sister of village administrator Mike Haley but doesn't feel that would compromise her position on the board.

"I'm one of 15," she said. "Two are deceased, but we all live here, and we're used to dealing with each other as family and separately as well. My son is a junior at the high school, and he has five cousins in his class, and many others that aren't in his class. We're used to it."

Turner said she would refrain from voting on issues that would directly affect her brother, such as decisions about his salary. "Larry Hanson's brother has been in public works for a number of years, and it's never posed a problem," she added.

ANTIOCH

Warrant arrest

Edward B. Oaf, 42, of 267 Route 173, Antioch, was arrested on warrant on March 13 at 11:27 a.m. on the north shoulder of Route 173 west of 59.

Police stopped to talk with Oaf and ran a routine check of his identifiers through LEADS. That check came back with information that Oaf was wanted on warrant for DUI (driving under the influence) through the Lake County Sheriff's Office with bond set at $22,000.

He was arrested and transported to the Lake County Jail after processing.

DUI

Martin A. Tessmann, 29, of 1064 Main Street, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence on March 14 at 1:07 a.m. on Route 83 north of Orchard.

Police followed Tessman because his car had crossed the yellow centerline. The officer then observed that a taillight was out and stopped him.

Tessmann's identifiers were checked through LEADS/NCIC/SOS with information that his license was suspended. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on his breath and requested field sobriety testing.

Tessmann failed all of the tests requested of him. He agreed to chemical testing on the spot with the results being .159 blood alcohol concentration.

He was issued citations for DUI, improper lane usage, driving while suspended and having no rear plate light. Tessmann was released on personal recognizance pending his April 1 court date.

Edward Konvalinka, 46, of 253 Bridgewood, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on March 14 at 4:55 p.m. on Depot Street at Skidmore.

Police stopped to talk with Konvalinka as he had stopped in the middle of the road, blocking traffic. He told police he thought he had pulled off to the side of the road.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage. Konvalinka refused field sobriety testing, swore at the officer and refused to get out of his car initially.

He was arrested for DUI and issued citations for improper parking and DUI. Konvalinka also refused chemical testing.

He posted his driver's license and $100 pending court, and was released.

Suspended driver's license

Dustin M. McGuire, 18, of 13666 W. Greenvue, Wadsworth, was arrested for driving while suspended on March 11 at 11:47 p.m. on Route 173 at Grimm Road.

He was stopped for having a broken taillight and no rear registration plate light. Additionally his muffler was "excessively noisy."

When stopped, the officer noticed McGuire was not wearing a seatbelt. A check of his identifiers through LEADS/SOS returned with information that his driver's license was suspended.

During inventory for tow, police found a 12-ounce can of beer that had a small amount of beverage within behind the driver's seat.

McGuire was arrested and issued citations for having only one red taillight, no registration lighting, no front registration, no insurance, driving while suspended, illegal transportation of alcohol, failure to wear a seatbelt and having a muffler that was making excessive noise. He was released on $200 bond.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mayor, board subvert people's will

This morning, the Circuit Court of Lake County irrevocably struck my name from the April 1 ballot for the position of trustee of the Village of Antioch. The grounds upon which the ruling were made were trivial, probably legal but certainly not fair.

I am saddened by the event, because it deprives the voters in the Village of Antioch of a candidate who stood for openness, fairness, objectivity and accountability in city government. I am also angered. The people who engineered this event were afraid to oppose me in open elections.

Mayor (Taso) Maravelas, Trustee Scott Pierce and others on the board of trustees have attempted to subvert the will of the people through misinformation and manipulation of the system. They have very nearly succeeded. In the last two years, under the mayor's regime, the board has gutted the Comprehensive Plan, prostituted itself before Neumann Homes and Great Lakes Principals and permitted village staff to ignore flagrant violations of existing zoning laws by a privileged few.

I had hoped to make a difference by taking a seat on the board of trustees and working to change the system from within. I wanted to hold the mayor to his campaign promises, force the board to be objective in its deliberations and decisions and open the process to the public at whose discretion the mayor and board serve.

If I cannot work from within, I can work from without to make sure that the mayor shall serve only one term (I shall begin to think of him fondly as "One Term Taso") and that in the next election, only people who are trustworthy and deserve the title trustee win the right to represent us.

I don't think the mayor or his cohorts realize the depth of the distrust and anger that their actions have spurred in many of their constituents. They can move to keep me off the ballot, but they cannot hold back the rising tide of animosity that they have created.

I do wish, however, to thank everyone who has supported my candidacy. Your hard work and dedication is greatly appreciated. I also want to let everyone know that I am returning every donation that I have received. If I am not to be on the ballot, I don't think it would be appropriate for me to keep the money.

With the reimbursement of your donations, I strongly urge you to consider donating to and supporting the campaigns of Ralph Antonelli and Barbara Porch. Barbara has already demonstrated her courage by objectivity in her tenure on the board and deserves your vote. Ralph's objectives are the same as mine. He wants voters to take back their town and city government. I trust both to serve wisely, honorably and fairly with only our best interests at heart.

And, to all the registered voters of Antioch, I ask only one favor: no matter how you stand on the issues, no matter whom you support, please get out and vote on April 1.

Porch playing residents

Trustee Barbara Porch's recent letter to the people of Antioch and the Lakeland Media label given to her as the "Good Sense Champ" called to question her position in the ethics department for the village of Antioch.

Trustee Porch, along with being a village trustee, is also the executive director of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce. This is not a volunteer position; the position is a highly paid part time position with the Chamber of Commerce. During the Wal-Mart debate, Trustee Porch chose the position of questioner and the advocate for a different path. Her belief in such is commendable if no other influence then her conscience was her guide. It is a well known fact several leading business leaders oppose Wal-Mart. If these same business leaders pay her salary, how can she be independent in her vote? She should have abstained.

Trustee Porch also owns a business in Antioch, which has provided services to the village during Halloween Howl on at least two occasions. Instead of "donating" the service or abstaining voting for the payment, Trustee Porch voted "YES" to ensure her payment or had no clue on what she was voting.

These are two examples of how Trustee Porch profits from her position as trustee. But even worse, Trustee Porch has used her position to help ensure her re-election. A "cursory" check of her nominating petitions will show that Paul Howard (village employee) passed her petitions at the Antioch Senior Center. This is the same individual she forced the village to hire and has prompted pay raises on his behalf. The only time the seniors are there to sign the petitions are during his working hours (Is this what he is paid to do?)

One question remains: Is she the "Good Sense Champ," or just someone playing the residents of Antioch for "chumps?"

DANCERS

comes next.

Antioch's AAA Kick routine was a performance that satisfied even the harshest of the team's critics — the girls themselves. The squads from Lake Zurich and Fremd performed well enough to worry the team from Antioch, but since their own kick-lines were straight and the routine included some new moves, the team was more worried than the spectators who had come along to cheer them on.

Once all the teams were seated for the awards, the team from Antioch followed a tradition begun by former coach Joy Edge, they bowed their heads and linked their pinkies as they waited for the results.

In the AAA Funk category, the Antioch Varsity Dance team took a third-place with second going to Fremd and first being awarded to St. Charles East. However, "... they'll get a medal and a trophy," said Rachel Paschall, sister of Brittany Paschall and a member of the Varsity dance team when they won at State in 2000. "Third in State out of 16 teams is good!"

AAA Kick was the second to last category read and the girls were silent as the announcer listed the results. When Fremd was listed as receiving second place out of 10 teams, a hush came over the section in which the family members of Antioch's squad sat. And when Antioch's name was read as having won first place, the girls started to cry and their relatives began to scream. Team members and relatives crowded onto the dance floor as team captains Heather Axton and Lauren Popp held the trophy.

"We're overwhelmed... excited," Popp said. "I don't know what I'm feeling. Happy, mostly!"

Members of the Antioch Varsity Dance team are seniors Heather Axton, Lindsay Bailey, Megan Beemer, Jenna Diemer, Megan Genengels, Ashley Ginascio, Kari Hintz, Lauren Popp, Amanda Rzyso; juniors Chelsea Dickson, Leah Droze, Kaja Milovanovic, Brittany Paschall, Amy Shouse, Amber, Steward, Mandy Vickers; sophmores Kristy Breitbach, Amy Knutsen, Savana Soder, Amanda Williams; and freshmen, Tiffanie Brown, Tiffany Chilcote, Alyssa Johnson and Katie Severson.

The Varsity squad is coached by Samantha Griffin, a former member of the squad. Griffin said this will be her last year coaching the dance team since she has taken a year off from school to coach the team this year.

LAST CALL

John Phelps

When it comes to sectional basketball time at Waukegan's East Gym, Kay White (right), Sherry Maki and Evelyn Diggers are ready to greet you with a smile, as well as some good eats, in the tournament's hospitality room.—

Take a bow

Waukegan Athletic Director Rollie Vasquez kicks up his feet in an office near the hospitality room behind the storied Old East Waukegan Gym.

The look of satisfaction comes over his face.

Another exciting Waukegan sectional boy's basketball has come to an end.

Only a few stragglers, mostly workers who put in long, hard hours to make the spectacle possible, remain in the building.

Speaking of which, we pretty much knew whom the combatants, and their faithful, were for the three days of the tournament. In other words, those behind-the-scenes' people that go the extra mile to make the event possible.

Take the hospitality room, for instance. Waukegan knows how to do it up right.

Combining efforts with Sodexo-Marriott Food Service, a group of five beautiful gals ready to greet you with warmth and hospitality, helped put out a spread of food that compares to what one might see over the holidays. Well, maybe not as involved. But it'll do.

"It's one of those traditions that has kept going," said Pam Burris, who started at Waukegan as an assistant secretary and is now the athletic secretary. "I think we started doing this sometime in the mid-90s. We kept doing it because the response was nothing but positive."

Over the three days, a delectable spread in the hospitality room included items like hot wings, meatballs, Italian beef sandwiches, ham and chicken wraps filled with cream cheese, egg rolls, fruit and vegetable trays, a variety of sweets, punch, pop and water.

In the workers', or administrators', cafeteria, spaghetti, chicken and pizza were on the menu.

Pam's sister, Evelyn Driggers, has been involved with all 21 schools in Waukegan's school district for the past 21 years. For the last three, she has helped head the food service division for the Waukegan School District. She was the main supervisor for the hospitality and teacher and worker cafeteria during the sectional tournament.

"The room is pretty much for coaches, media, administrators, and sometimes the players from the teams come in for a bite to eat after their game," said Driggers, whose staff primarily work in the school's cafeteria during regular school days.

"We just wanted to make everyone feel welcome."

Another face behind the scenes, one you see on the court during timeouts and between quarters, is Zion native Sam Adams. Adams is one of the head custodians for many schools in Dist. 60 but has been the head custodian at the East Gym for sectionals the past four years.

"I just really enjoy the excitement," said Adams. "I like taking care of the gym, with cleaning and maintaining the gym area. I just like to do my part in making everyone feel at home."

Sectional basketball at Waukegan.

Doesn't get any closer to home than this, especially with people like the aforementioned on hand to make sure of it.

CLC athletes represent school with class

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Basketball will remain in Jenni Malueg's future for some time.

"I would love to be a high school basketball coach. Even in practices, I wonder how I might run a play," said Malueg.

Malueg was named Athlete of the Season for the College of Lake County, as both men's and women's teams were honored at a school banquet in Grayslake. The Round Lake graduate also won an athlete-of-the-week honor.

Marc Harvey was named MVP of the men's team.

The women had a 16-16 season and won a regional tournament game. The men were 11-19.

Malueg contributed 23.8 percent shooting for three-pointers, 46.1 percent for two-point shots, and made 72.4 percent from the free-throw line. She finished with a team-best 15.1 ppg. She was third in rebounding, with 190.

"I will take the relationships and the people that you become real close to. I was a rival with Karen Davidson and Becky Holem (Grant High graduates); we would go at it all the time, now we're really good friends. Becky is a hard worker. She is awesome in rebounds. It kills her that she can't play now," Malueg said. Holem suffered a torn ACL and looks to return to the hardwood next season.

Meanwhile, Malueg is considering attending and playing for University of Wisconsin-Parkside next fall. She was All-Skyway Conference, one of two team captains, and according to Region IV, she was selected to the Region IV All-Star team, Braman announced, as one of 10 players selected.

Holem finished in the top-20 in rebounds in scoring in the NJCAA statistics. The former Bulldog also plays a mean oboe.

Point guard Amy Mueller of Antioch was, "a great ball handler," Braman said. Mueller shot 39 percent for two-pointers, and 54 percent from the free-throw line for 172 points, good for almost six points per contest.

"She is very competitive. She is a school leader for assists. We'll miss her tremendously," added Braman.

Amber Henley of Mundelein was an outside shooting specialist. She shot 33.6 percent for treys, 39.6 percent for two-pointers and 74.5 percent from the free-throw line. Her 350 points were second on the team. She also finished with 10.9 ppg while being named the team captain along with Malueg.

Spear, a "mighty might" from Round Lake, was third on the team in rebounds despite her small stature. She averaged 4.3 boards per game to go along with 35 percent shooting from behind the three-point arc. Spear shot 41.4 percent total and averaged 10 a game. She was second on the team with 68 steals. "She was fabulous this year. If there is someone who wants to go to the basket, she will be in your way," Braman said.

Holem was named All-Skyway Conference. She shot 55.8 percent and averaged 10 points per ballgame. She led the team with nearly 300 rebounds. "She is 12th in the nation in rebounding and 13th in scoring. She will go on, with several choices to make. She was all-conference."

Erica Brown, like her older sister Aja, contributed to the CLC Lancers. She shot 47 percent from the field, 72 percent from the free-throw line, and averaged 12.5 ppg, the second best. Brown had 129 rebounds, third best on the team. "She came in from another college, and after waiting 16 weeks, had a fabulous season," Braman said.

Cheritta Edwards, from North Chicago, played 24 games, was a very dedicated player to practices and games, and was a good shooter and ball-handler. She won the Most Improved Player honor.

Mason has world-class written all over her

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

The quiet ones are usually the ones to be on the look out for.

Despite the soft-spoken nature, Antioch Shotokan Karate student Krystal Mason can definitely hold her own when it comes to martial arts.

The 11-year-old and a fifth-grader at Antioch Lower Grade School, is seeing her seven years of training pay off.

At the Antioch Shotokan Annual Awards Banquet at Maravela's in Fox Lake, Mason was awarded with the Student of Year.

She trains very hard to accomplish her techniques—kata and kumite," said ASK owner and chief instructor, Anna Connors. "It doesn't come easy for her, so she puts her best foot forward. It's her focus and determination that helps achieve her goals."

Mason, who trains in two advanced classes a week as well as a competition class for more intense training, won a silver medal in kumite at the Jr. Olympics last summer in Knoxville, Tenn. As a result of her finishing in the top-half, she was invited to compete for the USA Jr. Olympic Team and the World Championships in Japan this month.

"They sent me a letter notifying me that I was invited," said Mason, who currently holds a Brown Belt 3 ranking and will be testing for her Brown Belt 2 as well this month. "I was like, oh my gosh! I couldn't believe it! It was quite an honor."

Mason attributes her success in martial arts to her family, as well as the quality instruction given by Sensei Connors and the ASK family.

"It's (martial arts) has taught me to stand up for myself," said Mason. "It also helps develop confidence, self-esteem and discipline."

Krystal's father, Dennis Mason, is a nationally certified AAU coach. It was Dennis and Debbie McKillip, Krystal's mom, that exposed Krystal to martial arts.

"In the beginning, we wanted her to join and try it out," recalls Dennis. "She tried it, liked it and decided to stay with it. Being involved with martial arts has helped her gain more confidence, like in school. There has been a big change there."

And if you're good at something, why not try and take things as far as you can?

"Dad and I would love to build and open our own karate school in the future," said Krystal. "I'd love to teach what I've been taught: the values and benefits of martial arts."

Krystal is also a past regional, state, national and Jr. Olympic champion. Because of her success's, she has become a mentor for many of the younger children at Antioch Shotokan Karate.

CLC

50 at the national cross-country meet (47th), was a standout on the court as well. She shot 29.3 percent for threes, making 27, and had 38.0 percent for two-pointers. She had 244 points, a 7.6 ppg average. She led the team with 76 steals. "She has great spirit and that carried over into her basketball," Braman said. She won a gold basketball. "More important than how you played, is how you represented CLC."

Braman summed up the benefits of playing at CLC. It is about opportunity, he told the group of players and parents, through a parable.

The CLC Men finished 4-8 in the Skyway Conference but gained much through the experience, Coach Shawn Chism believes.

"People don't understand what kind of commitment of time and dedication that it takes to practice, travel, go to games, etc. It's about 30 hours a week. When I came here, I had a three-year plan," Chism said.

Bernard Middleton, a sophomore from Lake Zurich, came to CLC after attending another school and had a good year, Chism said.

Tim Anderson, a 5-foot-11-inch sophomore point guard from Chicago Crane High, did the same. Both are likely to play next year somewhere, Chism said. Anderson served as a team co-captain.

"Both will play at another college or university," the coach said.

Harvey, from Chicago DeLaSalle, gained Honorable Mention All-Conference honors as well as team MVP honors.

"We work with these young people, but it's our job as mentors to try the best we can to make them grow. All of them have grown. Marc has made exceptional strides to here."

D'Andre Billingsley, who played for state champ Westinghouse before CLC, is a 6-foot forward, who is a good student with a 3.4 GPA, one of five Lancers to top the 3.0 mark.

"We look forward to the players who are returning, as well as the parents. Remember the experience CLC has provided your child and hope that you will support us in the future. We had a three-year plan in mind. This year, we improved a little bit. They gave us everything that they had. We had some peaks and valleys, but we also had fun this year," Chism said. "You have things to take for you for the future."

CLC's assistant coaches are Jason Black for the men and Roger Peterson for the women. Trainer Larry Scire was also thanked for his work with CLC athletes.

Heading into the spring sports season, CLC is in fourth place in the running for the all-Skyway sports honor. Elgin leads the league.

"Sophomores on the squad led us from the good to the better. The freshman that are here learned what it is to be better. What I hope is the freshman teach the freshmen coming in that they are not satisfied with the better, until it is the best," Braman said.

Making the grade in college

Elmhurst College Baseball

Shipbaugh will be joined by another former area standout, Antioch's Brad Groth. Groth, a Lake Villa resident. The 6-foot junior shortstop Groth is a two-time letter winner for the Bluejays. This spring, he will serve as one of the team's captains.

While at Antioch High, Groth was captain and an All-North Suburban Conference selection his senior year. He also participated in cross-country and golf.

Groth, a finance major, is the proud son of Marc and Sue Groth of Lake Villa.

Millikin University Wrestling

Former Antioch High standout Nate Carden capped off his season year on the mat by being rewarded with his fourth varsity letter. ## Hit me with your best shot

It's that special time of year when the madness begins, the dreams ignite and the cheers explode. The annual rite of late winter sees Lake County's best four teams descend annually on the old Waukegan East gym, known as the "Dog Pound" to hoops enthusiasts.

It's a fast and furious three games over four days, which crowns the county's unofficial best team. Pitting old rivals and new rivals, this year's Sectionals lived up to its billing.

Zion-Benton clashed with old foe Waukegan to kick things off, with the Zee-Bees prevailing 71-66, featuring probably the most spirited play, on the court and off, with standing-room-only crowds squeezed into the old gym. Libertyville took out Lake Forest the next night, with the Wildcats notching a 64-56 win.

In the final, a seesaw battle was broke n open in the final minutes, as the Zee-Bees took the title home with a 64-53 win for the right to advance to the Supersectionals.

The screening program is designed to raise awareness of the dangers of alcohol consumption and offer help for those struggling with the problem. # Sweet potato praline pie with a touch of soul

Joyce White, in her new book, "Brown Sugar: Soul Food Desserts from Family and Friends" (HarperCollins Publishers, 2003), shares a friend's recipe for Sweet Potato Praline Pie, which she bakes every Thanksgiving.

Rich and satisfying, it's heavenly any time of year. The pie-lovers in our circle all gave it a "thumbs-up" rating.

White, a food writer whose weekly column Soul in the Kitchen appears in African-American newspapers across the country, laces her book with down-home anecdotes.

Among other easy-to-follow recipes are for banana cake, southern pralines, biscuit bread pudding and chocolate cinnamon ice cream.

COOKING by the BOOK

Tom Witom

Sweet Potato Praline Pie

- 1 partially baked single 9-in. pie crust
- 2 lbs. sweet potatoes (about 4 or 5 small)
- 4 Tbl. unsalted butter, melted
- 1 cup granulated sugar, or to taste
- 2 medium eggs
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
- 1 tsp. ground ginger
- 1 tsp. ground allspice
- 1/2 cup evaporated milk, undiluted, or half-and-half

Praline topping:

- 1 Tbl. unsalted butter
- 1 Tbl. brown sugar, preferably brown crystallized sugar
- 1/2 to 2/3 cup coarsely chopped pecans
- 1/4 tsp. vanilla extract

Set aside the crust to cool.

Meanwhile, scrub and rinse the sweet potatoes. Cut away the eyes or sprouts and discard. Place the unpeeled sweet potatoes in the top of a steamer and cook over boiling water for about 30 minutes or until tender.

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees.

Remove the cooked potatoes from the pan and drain. Peel while still warm.

Using a fine strainer that is at least 6 inches in diameter, force the potatoes through the sieve into a large mixing bowl or the bowl of a standing mixer fitted with the paddle attachment, pressing hard with a rubber spatula.

Using 2 cups of the mashed potatoes, beat on low speed until they are light and fluffy. (Use the leftover mashed potatoes in pancake or biscuit batter.)

Add the butter, sugar, eggs, vanilla extract, ginger, allspice and rum or brandy.

Beat on medium-high speed for 2 or 3 minutes until the filling is smooth and creamy and well blended. Add the milk or half-and-half and beat on low speed until well blended. Pour the filling into the pie shell and spread evenly with a knife or spatula. Set the pie on the lower shelf of the preheated oven and bake for 2 minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare the praline topping: Combine in a small saucepan the butter and sugar. Place on medium-low heat and heat, stirring until the butter melts and the mixture is well combined. Stir in the pecans and vanilla extract, mix well and remove from heat.

Carefully remove the pie from the oven and set on a wire rack. Using a tablespoon, place a small circle of the nut mixture in the center of the pie. Spoon another larger circle of nuts near the edge of the pie, creating two rows of nuts. Spoon the syrup in the pan over the nuts and over the top of the pie.

Return the pie to the oven and bake for 20 to 25 minutes longer or until the pie is lightly browned around the edges and a knife inserted into the center comes out clean. Don't overbake. Cool the pie completely on a wire rack before serving. For best flavor and to set the filling, chill the pie 30 to 40 minutes. However, many sweet potato pie lovers prefer the pie served at room temperature.

SPECIAL EVENT

Tibetan Monks perform for world healing at the Hemmems

The renowned multiphonic singers of Tibet's Drepung Loseling Monastery, whose sellout performances at "Carnegie Hall" and "Lincoln Center" received national acclaim, will perform at The Hemmens Cultural Center in Elgin on Saturday, March 22, at 8 p.m. as part of their international tour of "Sacred Music, Sacred Dance for World Healing."

The tour is sponsored by Richard Gere Productions, Inc. and Drepung Loseling Institute, with the blessings of His Holiness, the Dalai Lama.

The performance features multiphonic singing, wherein the monks simultaneously intone three notes of a chord. The "Drepung Loseling" monks are particularly renowned for this unique singing. They also utilize traditional instruments such as 10-foot long dungchen trumpets, drums, bells, cymbals and gyaling horns, rich brocade costumes and masked dances, such as the "Dance of the Sacred Snow Lion" add to the exotic splendor.

The monks of the "Drepung Loseling Monastery" have a very distinguished modern-day musical history. Two of their recordings achieved top ten listings on the New Age charts: "Tibetan Sacred Temple Music" and "Sacred Music Sacred Dance for World Healing." Their most recent recording "Compassion," pairs them with the "Abbey of Gethsemani Schola" in an encounter of Gregorian chant with Tibetan multiphonic singing.

The Drepung Loseling monks participated in Hollywood's two major movies on Tibet. Their music was featured on the Golden Globe-nominated soundtrack of the film, "Seven Years in Tibet," starring Brad Pitt. Tickets for the "Mystical Arts of Tibet: Sacred Music, Sacred Dance for World Healing" at The Hemmens on Saturday, March 22, is $40 (Golden Circle); $20 (Main Floor) and $18 (Balcony).

Call the Hemmens 24-hour charge-it line at 847-931-5900 or purchase tickets at The Hemmens Cultural Center in Elgin's downtown Civic Center. The box office hours are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. and Saturday, noon to 4 p.m.

Bluegrass music by J.D. &amp; The New South

Legendary bluegrass banjo player J. C. Crowe will make his first appearance at the Woodstock Opera House, 121 Van Buren St., Saturday, March 22, at 8 p.m. Jimmy Martin was so impressed with the youngster's ability that he asked him to join his band. During summer break from school in 1953 the young Crowe joined Martin's band and began an enduring relationship that would lead him to become the premier banjo player for Jimmy Martin & The Sunny Mountain Boys.

He formed J.D. Crowe & The New south with the intention of opening up the horizons for a new sound which would encompass more than strictly bluegrass. The band's first recording actually included several electric instruments and drums. The sound was considered revolutionary for the day and alienated many bluegrass fans. The recording accomplished what Crowe had intended to do, making his music appealing to a much broader audience.

Perhaps mellowing over the years, his current band favors the more traditional bluegrass format.

'A Scoop of the U.S.A.'

An ice cream challenge

Edy's Grand Ice Cream is celebrating its 75th birthday by challenging kids to invent new ice cream flavors that show off the unique appeal of their home states.

Beginning in March young ice cream experts can put their state knowledge to the test by entering Edy's "A Scoop of the U.S.A." flavor contest and dreaming up flavors that pay tribute to the heritage and distinctive qualities of their home states. Fifteen pint-sized finalists from across the United States will be invited to a "Taste off" at the Edy's ice cream factory where they will create their one-of-a-kind flavors for a panel of judges.

"Edy's was founded in 1928, and a year later our founders, William Dreyer and Joseph Edy, invented the first batch of Rocky Road. In honor of our company's 75th birthday, we are inviting some of our biggest ice cream fans to show off their own flavor creations," said John Harrison, Edy's Official Ice Cream Taster.

Kids can enter Edy's "A Scoop of the U.S.A." flavor contest by submitting 1) an original ice cream flavor name that shows off (represents) their state in name and taste, 2) a creative and meaningful description of the flavor (ingredients should include products and/or themes that are relevant to the child's home state), and 3) a paragraph (250 words or less) explaining, "Why this flavor represents my state in the coolest way." Children must be residents of the United States and between the ages of 8-14 to be eligible.

Submissions may be sent to: A Scoop of the U.S.A., Edy's Grand Ice Cream, 5929 College Ave., Oakland, CA 94618. All entries must be postmarked by September 19. Complete contest rules are available at www.Edys.com or by calling 888-590-3397.

A panel of Edy's judges will select the best entry from each of the 50 states (and one from the District of Columbia) based on the creativity, originality and meaningfulness of the flavor name and ingredients. The 51 finalist will be notified on or about Oct. 15 and awarded a year's supply of Edy's ice cream (26 ice cream certificates per semi-finalist). Of these 51 semi-finalists, the top 15 will also win a U.S. Savings bond and an all-expenses-paid trip to the Edy's ice cream factory to participate in a state flavor "taste off." There will be one grand-prize winner selected and in addition to all the other prizes, Edy's will make a batch of the winning ice-cream creation for the grand prize winner's family and friends.

Summer camps are right around the corner

Lake County Forest Preserves

Learning doesn't stop when school lets out. Sneak some extra "brain time" into your child's schedule by enrolling them now in a summer camp or day program at your Lake County Forest Preserves.

Kids can try on life as a wildlife biologist, a Great Lakes Indian or an aspiring actor. A wide variety of age-appropriate summer camps and day programs for children from ages 4 to 14 are available at Forest Preserve locations throughout Lake County. Give your child a chance to explore some interests that are not covered by the regular school curriculum, and give yourself a few hours free. Summer Camp programs fill up fast, so make your reservations as early as possible. For program descriptions, dates, times and fees, visit the web site at www.LCFPD.org or call 847-968-3321 to receive a free Summer Camp and Day Programs brochure by mail.

The Center for Enriched Living

The Center for Enriched Living, a life enrichment and skill development center for children and adults with developmental disabilities, is gearing up for summer activities by offering current and potential members the opportunity to save money by registering early for "The Center's Summer Adventure Camp." This social and recreational program is designed for children, teens and young adults ages 9 - 21 with developmental disabilities. Peers are grouped by age, interests and ability level.

The camp is offered five days a week, Monday through Friday, from June 23 through August 1 at The Center, located at 280 Saunders Road in Riverwoods. Participants are welcome to attend one day a week or up to five days a week.

Activities planned for Summer Adventure Camp include recreational swimming, arts and crafts, sports, games, music and dance, computer fun, community outings and much more.

Participants who register before April 21 will receive special reduced camp rates. Non-members or campers new to The Center must complete an initial intake process by June 1. Please call Jim Finlay, Outreach Coordinator, at 847-948-7001 for more information.

Summer in the Prairie

Summer in the Prairie is a unique effort by the Liberty Prairie Conservancy and the Prairie Crossing Charter School. This innovative program offers an integrated environmental adventure experience for the Kdg. - 6th grade child.

The program's first session, entitled "Discovering your Secret Place" (June 16-July 3) and the second session, entitled "Ancient Skills—New Lands" (July 7-July 25) focus on life in the prairie. Through the perspective of both artist and scientist, participants explore the prairies, wetlands and woodlands of the Liberty Prairie Reserve in session one. During our second session children will be learn and practice skills handed down through the Native American traditions and those of the early explorers. Children will explore and enjoy the wild and open spaces of the Liberty Prairie Reserve.

Both sessions will be held outdoors as we explore, build, create and discover all the wonders nature has to share with us. We will be using Prairie Crossing Charter School as our base camp. In addition to all the experience nature will provide us, we will have books, music, art and scientific equipment as part of our summer days.

Our goal is to provide your child with a fun and adventure-filled summer. We look forward to seeing some old friends and meeting some new faces. You still have time to join us and make the summer one you will never forget!

THERE'S JUST ONE HOSPITAL

in Lake County with the most ADVANCED RADIATION THERAPY TECHNOLOGY.

Radiation Oncologists
Joseph Imperato, MD and Marc Posner, MD

Lake Forest Hospital is the only full-service hospital in Lake County that offers Intensity Modulated Radiation Therapy. IMRT doesn't simply deliver radiation therapy to the general area of a cancer; IMRT sculpts the dose to conform to the unique shape of the carefully mapped tumor. IMRT maximizes the impact of therapy while diminishing its effect on adjacent healthy tissues and organs, for fewer side effects and faster recovery.

If your doctor is recommending radiation therapy, you may want to ask about IMRT. More focused. Fewer side effects. And there's just one hospital in Lake County where you can get it. Call us today at (847) 535-6135 to learn more or arrange for a consultation.

For George

For Pam

In the late 1930s, Nazism in Germany was gathering full momentum. While many Jews stayed in Germany, some fled. Walter Redlich (Merab Ninidze) leaves Germany to sharecrop a farm in Kenya. When his wife Kathe (Regine Zimmermann) and young daughter Jettel (Juliane Kohler) join him, the joy of the reunion is short lived. They are indeed in Africa, living in a remote village, without running water and other familiar comforts of home. When Kathe has difficulty speaking with a Kenyan, her response is "Learn German if you want to speak to me!"

As time passes, it becomes clear that things are getting worse for the Jews that remained in Germany—much worse. Young Jettel, without the biases of her parents (not hateful people though prejudiced) and with a child's open and engaging curiosity, becomes fascinated by this foreign culture. Kathe only tolerates the situation while Walter is relatively happy making a living and not fearing for his life because of being a Jew.

The cook for the Redlich family is Owuor (Sidede Onyulo), who works long hours and spends extended periods away from his own home so he can earn money to care for his wives and children. Owuor proves to be a confidant for Jettel and a lifesaver for Walter. The decision the Redlich's eventually face is whether to stay in Kenya or return to Germany.

Granted, a couple of great movie moments occur here, as when locusts threaten the crops. Pam, however, thinks the film is somewhat condescending and paternalistic to the Africans. George believes it tells it like it was (a la "Gods & Generals"). This was a movie that George did not want to end. Pam was ready for the end credits to roll.

"Agent Cody Banks" starring Frankie Muniz and Hilary Duff

Agent Cody Banks

Rating

PG

For action violence, mild language & some sensual content

Director

Harald Zwart

Starring

Frankie Muniz
Angie Harmon
Natalie Connors

Banks, Cody Banks. A junior James Bond is how teenage CIA Agent Cody Banks (Frankie Muniz of TV's "Malcolm in the Middle") sees himself. Most of the kids at his high school see him as kind of geeky and totally inept when dealing with girls. The CIA spent $10 million training him at a top-secret, summer camp for young agents but no one bothered to ask if he could string three words together to simply talk to a girl.

Cody's handler (spy talk for boss) Ronica Miles (Angie Harmon) has the Bond Girl look and gear down, tight leather and deep cleavage. His first assignment, of course, is to get close to Natalie Connors (Hilary Duff), the daughter of a scientist who's being coerced into developing lethal microscopic robots. His mission is to save the planet! The spy gadgets are the bomb (some literally). What's a spy to do without a "get out of a jam, quick" wrist-watch and a fast car? Then there's a great jet snowboard and a personal transporter, which Cody gets to share with the gorgeous Ronica.

Now, what we find offensive in this PG rated film is a classmate taunting, "Hey, are you in Special Ed?" when Cody stutters as he tries to speak to Natalie. Then there's the casino theme birthday party for a 15 year old. Anything for that James Bond panache! Cody Banks does not inhabit the same colorful, fun filled fantasy world created in the "Spy Kids" films.

Interview with David Cronenberg

By George O. Singleton

The new film "Spider" has been called by one critic "An Unbeautiful Mind." Directed by David Cronenberg, it stars Ralph Fiennes and Miranda Richardson as they deal with memory and sanity in a polished but brutally illusory manner, rather than the poetic and ultimately hopeful "A Beautiful Mind," starring Russell Crowe.

Cronenberg's view of directing is total involvement during shooting through post-production editing. He says, "Clothes affect the veracity of an actor's performance, and in the case of Spider, you realize in the opening scenes how important this is." Spider's shirts are layered four deep, and he uses old socks as a pouch for his belongings. Cronenberg and Fiennes spent considerable time deciding how many shirts he should wear, in what order they should be layered, and to what extent they are frayed or not. With respect to nicotine stains on Spider's fingers, they decided the extent of the coloring and on which fingers they would be.

"Spider" allows us passage inside the mind and heart of a deranged person. It is not meant to be a study of a disease, but of the human condition. Cronenberg says that "without memory there is no identity."

Memory is a reality and you think it is a fact, though what you remember may be a family tale that you later learn was not true. Films that merit being seen several times are destined to become classics. I'm ready to see "Spider" a third time.

Donate your used vehicle

Instead of trading in that old vehicle at the dealer, consider donating it to The Center for Enriched Living, a life enrichment and skill development center for children and adults with developmental disabilities. When you donate your used car, van, truck, or boat, you can deduct up to $5000 on the blue book value of the vehicle. These substantial tax savings could be a much better value than a trade-in. Not only will you be saving money for yourself; you will also be donating to a worthwhile cause. And The Center will tow your vehicle at no charge to you.

The Center for Enriched Living provides skill development and education for greater independence, community integration, recreation, and social programs for people with developmental disabilities.

Contact The Center at 847-948-7001 for more information.

A turf war brims on the homefront

Turf War

He's as predictable as Groundhog Day. Gardening catalogs start popping out of our mailbox, and then disappear under the sofa cushions faster than Punxsutawney Phil retreating from his shadow. My husband should know better. I rely on that sofa for spare change, and he'll never recapture any ground in our gardening "turf war."

The battle began innocently enough when my mate was too busy at work to maintain his well-ordered landscape. So, armed with a wealth of gardening ignorance, I decided to try and fill his boots. Before I knew it I was hooked...but on an old barbed wire fence surrounding my wild roses, not HIS prim-and-proper flower beds.

My horrified hubby has watched my newfound passion for "natural" gardening transform his pristine landscape into what he considers a glorified Dog Patch. The battle could only escalate when he discovered I'd become a shameless groupie of road crews...a log here...a log there...and PRESTO...welcome home to the "Ponderosa" HOSS!...complete with rustic timber fence.

LES ON LIFE

Leslie Glazier-Werner

Add to that my scouting trips to the local dump and we had a real bone of contention. How could I know that a load of broken concrete would tax the limits of our car's suspension? And NEVER tell your wife she looks like Paul Muni on a chain gang when she's breaking up that concrete with a cement mallet!

Still, I was getting away with undercover operations to the local recycling center...that is, until he decided to take my vehicle to the warehouse store for the weekly shopping trip. He should have known that NO pine car freshener could be THAT potent before purchasing a dolly full of mega munchies. Yes, you can load a lot of pulverized Christmas trees in the back of a Suburban! At least all that evergreen wiped out the telltale odor of my manure load from the local horse farm...

Speaking of odors, no return to nature would be complete without a compost bin. In a real stroke of gardening genius, I converted a discarded oil barrel into a hotbed for banana peels, rotten tomatoes and eggshells...and the "perfect" scenic backdrop for my spouse's precisely clipped yews. As I whittled my corn cob pipe, all he could manage to whimper was "What's NEXT? A rusted Buick?"

So, in a moment of weakness, I called a short-lived truce. Perhaps a romantic picnic in the woods would defuse the tension. Too bad I couldn't resist a half-buried water bucket...the perfect planter! I quickly dug it up and stuffed it in the picnic hamper, where, just as quickly, it shattered the wine...and the mood. Now it seems he's dug in more than good ole' Phil on a February day. But I don't take prisoners...especially husbands waving gardening catalogs.

Spring blossoms in benefit fashion event

The Assisi Animal Foundation presents its annual spring benefit on April 5 at the Crystal Lake Country Club.

AAF celebrates spring with a champagne luncheon and fashion show featuring ensembles selected from Peter Daniel, Savvy Spirit and Savvy Spirit Casual, all in the Ice House Mall of Barrington.

Guests will enjoy the reception, beginning at 11:30 a.m. followed by Executive Chef Pajich's culinary skills for the luncheon and continuing with informal modeling of the newest, freshest, "must have" spring outfits from the very popular shops participating in the day's program.

Star Radio celebrity guests Darien Page and Carol Vonn, who graced the event last year as well, will narrate the show.

Proceeds from the day, will help support AAF's non-kill animal shelter, the first such built in McHenry County. The AAF provides quality care housing for an average of 200 cats and dogs awaiting new adoptive homes. The AAF also introduces animal-assisted therapy programs and serves the residents of many area nursing and assisted living facilities with its pet therapy visits. Tickets for the April 5 fashion show and luncheon are $25, with a deadline of April 1. For details or reservations call 815-455-9411.

Greater Illinois Chapter seeking volunteers to assist with MS WALK

Numerous volunteer opportunities are available to assist prior to, and during the MS WALK to be presented by the Greater Illinois Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society on Sunday, April 6, at 18 sites in northern and central Illinois, including Chicago's lakefront. With volunteer contributions of time and labor, it would be impossible to hold this annual pledge-based event with 10,000 participating walkers, who last year generated more than $2.2 million in pledges and sponsorships, more than any other MS WALK in the country. The dollars raised benefits multiple sclerosis research and program services offered by the Greater Illinois Chapter to more than 11,000 persons with MS in 73 Illinois counties. So, volunteers directly contribute towards ending the devastating effects of MS.

Chicago Area Walk Sites: Chicago Lakefront, Fox Valley / St. Charles, Naperville, McHenry County, North Shore, Northwest Suburban, South Suburban, Joliet / Lockport and Kankakee.

Central Area Walk Sites: Illinois Valley (Streator), Bloomington-Normal, Champaign-Urbana, Peoria, Springfield, Quad Cities, Quincy, Decatur and Lincoln.

Volunteers working prior to the MS WALK, volunteers help to keep the events safe and organized so the participants can have fun and enjoy walking to earn their pledged amounts.

Volunteer opportunities also exist year round for other Special Events such as Bike Tours, Golf Tournaments and Festivals; numerous Chapter Programs including Peer Support, Information and Referral, and Health and Wellness Programs; Community Outreach including Advocacy and Health Fairs; as well as Special Projects and Office Support. YOU may have just the skill or talent necessary for one the many projects necessary to support the work of the Society in ending the devastating effects of MS. To learn about volunteer opportunities, or information about the MS WALK, go to www.msillinois.org or call 1-888-343-1179.

Multiple sclerosis is a chronic, often disabling disease of the central nervous system. It is generally diagnosed between the ages of 20 and 50. Symptoms can range from numbness in the limbs to paralysis or loss of vision. The progress, severity, and specific symptoms of MS in any one person cannot yet be predicted, but advantages in research and treatments are giving hope to those affected by the disease.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society provides programs and services that make life better for the approximately 400,000 Americans with multiple sclerosis and their families and friends. These programs are designed to inform and empower people to maximize their health and independence. In the Greater Illinois region, there are more than 11,000 people with MS.

P.M. & L. re-opens with 'Guys and Dolls'

AT A GLANCE

Fugitive flees hospital before being caught

Libertyville—Flavio Marin was already in enough trouble, say police, when he bolted from Condell Medical Center's emergency room at about 10:15 a.m. Thursday, March 13, and made tracks in the snow for Mundelein.

Unfortunately for Marin, 22, he was wearing a conspicuous white jump suit and as he ran west from Condell, at 801 S. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, several residents spotted him running through backyards and called 911.

Marin, of 125 S. Walnut St., is held at the Lake County Jail on various charges, including felony burglary, two counts of aggravated battery to a police officer, the Thursday charges of felony escape, and some misdemeanor counts of criminal damage and criminal trespass to property.

Closed meeting is cancelled after probe

Lake Villa—Lake Villa Township Fire Protection District cancelled an "informational" executive session, following a challenge by Lakeland Media regarding the legality of the closed meeting. The study originally scheduled to be discussed in the meeting has been requested under the Freedom of Information Act.

Ex-gang member's story to be broadcast

Round Lake Beach—Not too many years ago, ex-gang member Ricky Bueno was wasting away in solitary confinement in a state prison cell asking God to help him survive.

And now, just a few years later, on Sunday, April 6, Bueno's incredible journey from gangs, to prison, to a life serving God, will be broadcast on the "Unshackled Radio Drama," a radio series broadcast on 1,600 stations in the world in several languages, at 6 p.m. on 90.1 FM. At the Indian Hill Bible Church, 36133 Fairfield Road, Ingleside, it will be aired live. Bueno will then speak at the conclusion of the 30-minute broadcast. The public is invited to attend.

Delp named as SEDOL's new leader

By ELIZABETH GUARD
Staff Reporter

The Special Education District of Lake County has named a replacement for Dr. John Anderson, SEDOL's superintendent who is retiring in June.

Anderson's year-long national search for his replacement ended with the SEDOL Executive Board naming Dr. William Delp as the new SEDOL superintendent.

Delp is currently the associate superintendent of instructional support services for the Sarasota, Fla., school system, which serves more than 35,000 students in 32 schools across Sarasota County. Delp started his career with the Sarasota school system in 1986, when he served as the executive director for exceptional student education and alternative education.

Delp's 30 years as an educator have provided him with a broad base of experience, as he has backgrounds in areas from special edu-

Judges open a new kind of 'self-help' center

Those who represent themselves in court now have some help

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

'Here come the judges' seemed to be the battle cry at the grand opening ceremony for the "Center for Self-Representation" held in the lobby of the Lake County Courthouse.

The center is located inside the law library and is a gold mine of information for anybody wishing to represent themselves in court.

"This Center will help those individuals who can't afford an attorney or who choose to exercise their Constitutional right to represent themselves," said the Honorable Margaret J. Mullen, Chief Judge of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit Court.

Judge Mullen then introduced the Honorable Jane D. Waller who was instrumental in obtaining the grant for the Center.

"We are seeing more and more people who are representing themselves," said Judge Waller. Lawyers know the rules and pro-se litigants generally don't. This is frustrating to the judges. Now we can point the people to where they can get the information they need."

The Center will allow the public to access user-friendly Internet resource stations, read legal brochures, and obtain necessary forms and information for Small Claims Court so they can prepare their own cases.

The Center for Self-Representation is the first of its kind in the country and one of only a few nationwide.

The Illinois Equal Justice Foundation awarded $25,000 to Prairie State Legal Services to work with the Lake County Court and

COUNTY BRIEFS

View ballots online

Voters can visit the Lake County Clerk's web page, at www.co.lake.il.us/cntyck, to access a preview of their Election Day ballot. Clicking on "What's on My Ballot for the April 1, 2003 Consolidated Election?" The user is prompted to key in their address of registration to view their specific ballot.

Absentee ballots

Applications for an absentee ballot for the April 1 consolidated election are now available at the Lake County Clerk's office, municipal and township offices.

Eligible voters may vote in person at the clerk's office through March 31 in Room 101 of the County Building at 18 N. County Street, Waukegan.

Voters may now vote by absentee ballot at municipal and township offices as well.

A registered voter may also vote an absentee ballot through mail or by e-mailing absentee@co.lake.il.us, on the County Clerk's web site at www.co.lake.il.us/cntyck and clicking on "Request An Absentee Ballot Application," or by calling the clerk's office at 847-377-2406.

Donate your used vehicle

Instead of trading in that old vehicle at the dealer, consider donating it to The Center for Enriched Living, a life enrichment and skill development center for children and adults with developmental disabilities. When you donate your used car, van, truck or boat, you can deduct up to $5,000 on the blue book value of the vehicle. This substantial tax savings could be a much better value than a trade-in. Not only will you be saving money for yourself, you will also be donating to a worthwhile cause. And The Center will tow your vehicle at no charge to you.

Upbeat job scene

A comfortable hiring pace is foreseen for the Lake County area this spring, according to the latest poll of quarterly staffing plans from Manpower Inc.

"After polling local employers," Bill Tate of Manpower said, "the Employment Outlook Survey results found that 27 percent are intending to add personnel during the spring months, 10 percent foresee labor cutbacks and 60 percent will stay with current payrolls. The balance, 3 percent, have not finalized their plans."

Tate said that for the April-June period a year ago the outlook was fair when 20 percent stated they would upgrade their staffing levels, while 13 percent expected fewer workers on the job. Employers were upbeat three months ago as 23 percent projected workforce additions and 13 percent planned staff reductions.

This spring, job postings are planned in construction, wholesale/retail trade and services. Cutbacks are predicted in non-durable goods manufacturing and transportation/public utilities. Expectations are mixed in durable goods manufacturing.

Dr. Scholl's exhibition reopens

The Dr. William M. Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine at Finch University has announced the reopening of its tour program at the Feet First Exhibit, a one-of-a-kind museum dedicated to the structures of the foot and to the career of Dr. William Mathias Scholl, known to most as "Dr. Scholl."

The museum is divided into two galleries: the first focuses on the foot itself, and the second explores the business of foot comfort, the lifelong pursuit of Dr. Scholl.

Feet First is now in its new home at 3333 Green Bay Road, North Chicago, inside the Health Sciences Building.

For more information, call David McKay, museum curator, at 847-578-8417 or complete the tour reservation form at www.finchcms.edu/scpm/feetfirst/tourinfo.cfm.

Welcome trade: jobs for homes

There are rays of sunshine beginning to break through the gloomy clouds of endless rooftops, new strip malls and relentless pressure on homeowners to raise taxes for schools and municipal services.

The sunshine is awareness on a small but growing segment of elected officials that the balance in Lake County between residential and commercial development is seriously out of whack and desperately in need of repair.

Rick Taylor, superintendent of Fremont Elementary School district in rural Mundelein, pulled no punches in describing the long-standing focus on residential development as "detrimental" to quality of life.

Taylor, a relative newcomer from downstate Sangamon County (Springfield), says governmental bodies are dealing "with a shallow tax base."

Taylor made these observations at a presentation of how Central Range will impact the local economy. Central Range, located off Rte. 83 between Grayslake and Mundelein, is designed to become a 900 acre upscale business park with facilities for light industry, offices, research, a smattering of retail and some town house units.

The development gains its corporate authority from the Village of Grayslake and impacts directly two elementary school districts, Grayslake High School, and is envisioned to send out beneficial economic ripples to Libertyville and Round Lake Park, which border the proposed development, and three townships. Grayslake is working with Lake County officials to develop inter-governmental agreements for infra-structure needs.

Grayslake Mayor Tim Perry said the Central Range area at build-out offers the potential of 6,800 jobs as opposed to 900 homes if allowed to develop along traditional residential lines. When completed, in possibly 10 years, Central Range is projected to produce $16.4 million per year in new taxes. Perry said Grayslake's aim is to make Central Range "shovel ready" for occupants.

Except for retail malls, commercial development is not often discussed. While Central Range was unveiled for the public, officials of Hawthorn Woods were laying the ground work for (surprise) a golf course with residential. In a bow possibly to the new awakening of the advantages of commercial development, Antioch officials insist tax revenue is the driving force behind efforts to land a Wal-Mart super box that will enhance the tax base. Antioch, which is operating under a residential moratorium, also is eyeing an office research corridor astride I-94 on yet to be annexed land.

Trading rooftops for jobs comes as something of a novelty, belatedly perhaps, but welcome nonetheless.

April 1 balloting no joking matter

With the upcoming April 1 consolidated election coinciding with All Fools Day, cynics and wagsters are doing what cynics and wagsters do when confronted with a target of opportunity. They're finding comedy in election day. A pity.

All elections are serious business in our book, far too important for jokes even when the election falls on a day normally given to more than a bit of levity.

Going to the polls Tuesday, April 1, electors will find a busy ballot. Illinois legislators voted several years ago to consolidate the run of elections every other spring to simplify, economize and put greater emphasis on the process to fill the seats of the many units of local government for which our state is famous.

Thus, voters will be choosing representatives for local boards of education, municipal government, park districts, library districts, College of Lake County trusteeships, Regional School board, and depending on where you live, special units like the Fox Waterway Agency, and questions on raising taxes. Making all these decisions add up to a daunting task, an example of the rigors of citizenship.

What's at stake in a nutshell is leadership. Who will run the public business and who will make the decisions that affect our daily lives every bit as much as the decisions made in Washington, D.C. and Springfield. Voters in three municipalities will be determining new administrations as mayors of long standing are retiring in Highland Park, Lincolnshire and Lindenhurst. Decisions will not be easy.

When it comes to spending tax dollars, no elected representatives have more power than board of education members. It is a fault of the system that school board members probably are the least known of elected representatives. This boils down to another reason for the importance of voters doing their homework on who is elected to the board of education.

Public officials, particularly school leaders, have called attention to the fact that many school districts will be on spring break on election day with the result that families will be out of town. To counteract an expected drop off in voter turnout, ease of voting absentee is being spotlighted.

A parting reminder: Do your best to get to the polls Tuesday, April 1. Failing to vote could mean that the joke is on you.

VIEWPOINT

Can Wal-Mart pay village bills?

If there ever was a "man with a plan," it's Antioch Mayor Taso Maravelas, who was willing to risk his political future by inviting the King Kong of American retailing, Wal-Mart, to build another one of its famed big box stores on a vacant corner east of town.

Maravelas, 62, an intense, engaging businessman who immigrated to the U.S. from Greece at age 15, lets you know quickly that he's not out to commit political suicide by throwing out the red carpet for an enterprise his critics say will destroy much of Antioch's Main St. business.

Not only will Wal-Mart's success rub off on Antioch in the mayor's opinion, the commercial behemoth will trigger a gush of sales tax income that will help restore Antioch's financial stability and support rebuilding village infrastructure he said he found in tatters when elected 24 months ago.

Owner of highly successful restaurants and food service businesses serving all of Lake County, Maravelas said he inherited a village government on the brink of bankruptcy and loaded down with commitments to provide service to 15 new subdivisions. "Antioch hadn't repaved a street in 15 years. We were facing lawsuits everywhere. Village employees were unhappy. Our village symbol, the Hiram Buttrick sawmill, wasn't even working. Village bills weren't being paid. It was one big mess."

Mayor Maravelas said the old tactic of shoving bills under the rug literally was true in Antioch's case. Soon after sitting down at the mayor's desk in the village's antiquated and crowded office center, Maravelas said an unpaid bill for $87,000 from Commonwealth Edison was found under the carpet. "True story," he adds grimly.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

In short order, Mayor Maravelas installed a new leadership team and killed the policy of privatizing essential services. One of his first moves was sacking the village administrator who subsequently was indicted for misappropriation of funds. He also got rid of an out-of-state engineering firm that designed a water tower that wouldn't work. The mayor with the help of trustees slapped a 18-month moratorium on building—except Wal-Mart and the downtown business sector.

The mayor explained that Antioch had gone "overboard on rooftops. There was no balance. The village was living on building permits, robbing Peter to pay Paul."

As stated at the outset, Mayor Maravelas has a plan, a vision for what he aims to be the most desirable community between Chicago and Milwaukee. In less than a year, he devised a roadmap. "I'm a 'downtown guy' (he owns a popular restaurant on Main St.), but I could see that we needed sales tax and real estate taxes generated by Wal-Mart to turn things around. The mayor estimates that Antioch's loss in tax revenue attributable to Wal-Mart and associated development at $150,000 per year.

As soon as ground is broken for Wal-Mart, the mayor expects to sell revenue bonds to generate new funding to expand a successful senior citizens program into a recreational program for all ages that includes an Olympic-size swimming pool, gymnasium, health club facilities and outdoor playing fields—"for the whole population to enjoy."

The plan for the future also includes construction of a new public works headquarters, expansion of sewage treatment works and replacement of the worn out village hall which he terms "Lake County's orphan." To provide additional "balance," the mayor will create an office-research park west of I-94. He's already working on inter-governmental agreements to make it happen.

With a smile, Maravelas admits that his plans will take more than one term in office to complete. He already has announced that he's running for reelection in 2005.

Besides being a practical businessman, Maravelas is a political fatalist. "I was elected to do a job. If people don't like what I'm doing, they can vote me out of office," he declares matter-of-factly. "I'll still have my family, my business and my friends. That's what's important in life."

Open meeting doors must be open wide

Gov. Rod Blagojevich and Atty. Gen. Lisa Madigan can give credence to their campaign promises of government reform by pressing for legislation to reform the open meetings law in Illinois. We can take no pride in having one of the weakest open meeting laws in the country. Worse yet, as weak as the Illinois Open Meetings Act is, there is "no teeth" to it, no power to punish those who violate it.

When present House Majority Leader Barbara Flynn Currie was appointed chairman some years ago of a committee to reform the open meetings and freedom of information laws, I was hopeful that there would be real and meaningful changes. Unfortunately, the heat from municipal and other government lobbyists who followed the old style tradition that "we ain't ready for reform" prevailed, and only some "Band-Aid" changes weathered the storm.

SEEING IT THROUGH

Abuses of the open meetings laws run rampant all over Illinois. It's here in Lake County, too, and because very few public officials who go into executive session for one reason or another will ever come forward and admit that they have crossed the line and discussed matters that should be done in public, we have only touched "the tip of the iceberg."

Some time ago, in this column, I objected to violations by the North Shore Sanitary District when it violated open meetings law to grant an easement to construct the peaker power plant in Zion. It had taken telephone votes of board members which were not in accordance with the law. I read recently of an allegation of open meetings violation against a school district.

Last fall, there was a reported meeting in downstate Taylorville where the city council, its attorneys,

After 40 years in public life, Highland Park Mayor Dan Pierce is bowing out of public service for retirement.

Pierce is concluding three terms and will turn the office over to either Michael Belsky or Steve Mandel who are contesting in the April 1 election. Both are Pierce proteges. He's remaining neutral.

Before becoming involved in city politics, Pierce served in the Illinois General Assembly, representing districts in south and west Lake County. He was elected state representative 10 times as a Democrat.

Pierce was introduced to Lake County voters at age 28 as an unsuccessful write-in candidate in 1958 for county treasurer. Six years later he won his first term for state representative, running in the historic at-large election that featured the famed "Bed Sheet" ballot.

For the first time in history, the village of Port Barrington will hold an election. History is being made in the village formerly known as Fox River Valley Gardens. Washington will provide a unique perspective for House debate since he hails from downstate East St. Louis. He has lived in the Waukegan area almost 20 years.

State officer

W. Guy Finley of Lindenhurst is the newly elected vice chair of media and communications for the Libertarian Party of Illinois. Finley was vice president of the Round Lake Unit School District, resigning last August when he moved out of the district. At the annual convention meeting in Oak Brook, Finley said the Libertarian aim is to elect party members to local offices. The party will focus on less restrictive government and lower taxes, Finley stated.

How Crane helped

Republican insiders are thanking Congressman Phil Crane (8th Ill.) for doing the heavy lifting on landing U.S. Sen. Norm Coleman (R-Minn.) as keynote speaker for the annual Lake County Republican Federation dinner Friday, April 25. Crane and Coleman speak the same language—conservatism. The freshman senator is considered one of the new stars on the national GOP scene and able to attract a sell-out audience at the Marriott Lincolnshire.

Empty ballot

Technically, Bannockburn has six offices to fill in the April 1 village election, but there isn't a single person on the ballot due to a snafu in the petitioning process. Candidates for village president, clerk, and four trusteeships are running as write-ins.

Silent observer

Hawthorn Woods Mayor Kelth Hunt never misses a meeting of the village planning commission. He doesn't have a say-so in proceedings, but his presence speaks louder than words. Hunt was in favor of the controversial golf course development that won approval of the planners despite stiff citizen opposition.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

1938 view repeated

In 1938 Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister of Britain, signed the Munich Pact with Germany and announced that he had secured "peace in our time." In the next year Britain declared war on Germany. In Chamberlain's own words about Hitler, "this man will never give up his practice of using force to gain his will. He can only be stopped by force." Britain, Russia, Poland and other European countries suffered greatly because of this earlier inaction. The French, like the cuckold husband who doesn't see the man in bed with his wife, fared somewhat better with its Vichy government.

At that time, the United States, to its shame, decided not to join in the fight. It took the attack on Pearl Harbor for us to stand up and take our place with the other nations fighting the mad paper hanger. Before it was over many soldiers were killed and millions of innocent civilians were slaughtered by the Nazis.

Today we have a French "Chamberlain" in the person of Prime Minister Jean-Pierre Raffarin. In his own words though, "what is at stake is the peoples' confidence in the future of international law." In any country when someone breaks the law they are arrested. Where is the confidence in the United Nations if it does not enforce its law because it is afraid of the consequences. Must we wait until millions more die?

The United States learned its lesson with Pearl Harbor. Well folks, we had another Pearl Harbor on 9/11. We are ready to pick up the burden that wasn't picked up in the 1930s. Those that do not join us will not suffer for it. That is not our way.

So why should they not say, it is not necessary. Saddam poses no threat to the world, we can do it diplomatically. We heard these words in 1938. They will profit at our expense.

Perhaps we should pull out our troops, close our borders, put up our shields, hunker down and wait for others to beg us once again to save them.

Condemned by state

The headlines say, "State Health Department condemns Good Shepherd's Heart plan." What we read is, the State Health Department condemns some of us.

Ask your doctors, "would they have an angioplasty without a backup open heart team?" The answer will be, not if it's a risk that one should not take. The State Health Department rules want Good Shepherd patients, our neighbors and us to take this risk.

Also ask your doctors, "if they had a known heart problem would they have any surgery at a hospital that does not have a heart center?" The answer again will be no, it possesses a risk. The State Health Department wants our neighbors and us to take the risk.

If you have a heart attack in Good Shepherd's service area the paramedics will take you to Good Shepherd. You will receive the best treatment possible but you will be put at risk by being transported to another hospital to complete your treatment. Another risk for us, being pushed by the State Health Department.

Last not least is the financial problem. The cost to transport you from Good Shepherd to an alternate facility to complete treatment for a heart attack is not cheap. If you are uninsured, when you return home you may suffer another heart attack when you open the air ambulance bill for over $6,000. The same holds true for seniors, as Medicare will not pay for the air ambulance.

To have some of us being condemned to death by our State Health Department seems like cruel and unusual punishment for living near Good Shepherd.

Some phone messages are precious

This is a story that was making the rounds a few years ago, about a nice, all-around regular guy (let's call him Sid).

Sid's wife died, much too young. He missed her terribly, but eventually resumed his old habit of stopping after work for a drink with his buddies.

The guys noticed that when Sid was ready to leave for home he would stop at a pay phone and dial a number.

They wondered if, maybe, Sid had someone or something new in his life. So one day when Sid was leaving one of the guys sort of sauntered over toward the pay phone and eavesdropped on Sid's dialing.

Alas, he was calling his own home, where he now lived alone.

So the guys pressed him on this and it turned out that Sid's wife's voice was still on the telephone answering machine. He had left it there so he could hear it once more each day before going to the empty house and calling it an evening.

I was reminded of the Sid story because my wife and I happen to have received a "Grandma and Grandpa, I love you! Bye!"

How can we delete that? No way.

Speaking of phone messages, if you were to call our number and we weren't home this is what you would hear: "Hello. Neither Jan nor I can come to the phone right now. Please leave a message and we will get back to you as soon as possible."

That's very run-of-the-mill, I know. I have never been creative enough to concoct a really clever message.

My friends Richard and Peggy are clever and creative. Here's their answering machine message:

"Hi, this is Peggy. Richard and I can't come to the phone right now (then you hear, 'Woof, woof, woof, woof, woof!') but our dog Nick says, 'If you leave a message after the beep we'll get back to you.'"

I'd like to copy that but can't get our dog to bark on cue. He's a whiz-bang, however, at barking when you wish he would shut up.

When I was a boy, during the Depression, we somehow got along for years without a telephone. Now most homes have at least two or three. Yesterday's luxuries have become today's necessities. How did we ever cope without air conditioning, sun-screen, cruise control, remote control, portable phones, self-adhesive postage stamps and highlighter pens?

A person can't tend his telephone all day long. We have to take baths, for example, and as everyone knows from high school physics when a body is submerged in water the phone will ring.

divulged by the court. The issue is who is going to protect the public if certain matters should have been heard in open meetings.

There are certain other reforms that can bring absolute openness to public meetings, including ways to enforce the law and provide sanctions against abuse. I'm sure both the governor and attorney are aware of many of them. I was encouraged when I learned that Lisa Madigan has a group working on this issue, and I hope that I will not be as disappointed as I was when a legislative committee last tackled this issue.

It is high time that the doors to public meetings in Illinois "swing wide open," and remain open as long as public business is being discussed.

Gov. Blagojevich and Atty. Gen. Madigan, you have the will, along with your pledge, to reform government in Illinois. With your leadership, you will have the votes to strengthen the Illinois Open Meetings Act to where, instead of being one of the weakest in the country, it can become the strongest in the country.

its police chief and his department, met in secret to discuss certain incidents that affected public safety.

Surprisingly, the state's attorney, whose responsibility it is to handle open meetings violations, sat in on the meeting, too. More surprisingly, when the local newspaper filed a lawsuit under the Illinois Open Meetings Act, an associate judge ruled that the meeting wasn't a public meeting after all, but a "police interdepartmental meeting." When a majority of a quorum of members of a public body meet and discuss public business, that's a public meeting period.

Another recent case was even wackier. It happened downstate where members of a city council were polled by e-mail on whether they should adopt a certain city slogan. The issue may have been benign and nothing to get excited about, but the procedure and its precedent is a serious matter. Any matter of public policy by public bodies should be done in open public meetings, not by telephone, chat room, or e-mail conversations.

The most important reform that could be enacted would be one requiring that when public bodies go into executive session, those proceedings should be taped so that if there is a court challenge of an open meetings violation, the court can have access to the verbatim transcription of the meeting. Of course, attorneys for the public body lobbying groups violently object to such an "intrusion." What have they got to hide? If it is a legitimate closed meeting and absolutely nothing that was discussed in it should have been in an open meeting, nothing would be

Reservists leave from Great Lakes

By JO2 JESSICA PEARCE

About 200 Marines from Marine Wing Communications Squadron 48 (MWCS-48) left Wednesday evening to deploy to the Middle East. The Reservists were called up on Feb. 27 and told they had three days to get ready to go, said Lance Cpl. Maritza Carrasquillo, who had to leave her 1-year-old son in the care of family members. Although it was difficult leaving her son, the call didn't come as a surprise.

"We all knew we would be activated," she said. "It was just a matter of time."

Maj. John Forrest, the squadron operations officer, agreed.

"We've been preparing for this for a year and a half—since Oct. 2001," he said. "We knew within the year we'd be asked to do our job in a real world combat situation. But we were lucky that we had that time to prepare, I feel very comfortable that these men and women are mentally, physically and emotionally prepared to go and support the mission."

The Marines of MWCS-48 are highly trained communications specialists. They provide radio, multi-channel and wire communications networks ranging from field telephones to satellite systems. They establish and maintain the communications systems for the tactical air commander and his command center.

Some of the Marines deploying are computer specialists, network managers, single- and multi-channel radio specialists, and cryptological communications specialists. What this means, basically, is that this squadron lays the communication groundwork that allows battlefield commanders to communicate in combat, as well as being able to communicate to other Marines around the world.

The Marines in this squadron are no strangers to wartime deployment. They were also activated during Desert Shield/Desert Storm in 1991. Forrest said there is a wide range of ages and experience levels in the squadron.

"The project serves as a model for other counties in the state to create a network of self-help centers," said Christine Ory, treasurer of the Illinois Equal Justice Foundation. "The center will help people resolve problems that make a difference in their everyday lives, while at the same time increasing the efficiency of the local court system."

An osteopathic doctor may off you the best treatment

Most of the people with whom I speak have little or no knowledge of what an osteopathic doctor does, nor do they know about the similarities and differences between an osteopathic physician (D.O.) and an allopathic physician (M.D.). The general concept people seem to have is that the osteopath treats pain in the bones and the muscles with manipulation, while the allopathic physician is able to treat all kinds of illness with prescription medicine.

This generalization is partially true, in that the osteopath has learned how to use his hands as a sensitive diagnostic, therapeutic instrument. What people need to know is that both the D.O. and M.D. are fully qualified physicians licensed to perform surgery and prescribe medicine. In many respects, they are very much alike. In some others, they are very different.

I personally discovered this a few years ago when traditional medical protocol failed to help me. Like millions of people in our country, I became a victim of chronic illness — headaches and fatigue. I got fat and developed hypertension. The medication given to me by the M.D. who had been my doctor for fifteen years didn't lower my blood pressure very much. In fact, the side effects were making me feel lousy. The weight control program I was put on was awful because I was hungry all the time. It would have been all right for my parakeet, but I was still an active, young gal who needed to eat real food! I was miserable. The program wasn't working.

As a last choice, I decided to make an appointment with Dr. Dane Shepherd, an osteopath in downtown Chicago who had been highly recommended by a friend of mine. I wish Dr. Shepherd had been my first choice because he was able to help me with treatment I had never before experienced with any allopathic doctor.

At that first appointment, he never took my blood pressure or had me weigh myself. That was good. I hated getting weighed. Instead, fully clothed — another good thing, he had me lie down on his table while he positioned himself in back of me. He slowly cupped his hands around my head and began to move his fingers ever so slightly as if he were feeling for something. Then, by gently manipulating that something in my head, around my ears and at the base of my skull, he was able to produce an amazing change. It felt as though there was a tide moving inside of me.

ON CALL

That was one of the procedures and methods of treatment Dr. Shepherd used that I believe not only saved my life — it changed my life.

I know how strange what he did may sound to you, but the scientific term is called palpation. With his hands, he was able to determine any imbalance in my body and through manipulation, bring about a positive change to reverse the imbalance and the illness it was causing.

So amazing and so complex, this branch of medical treatment is called Cranial Sacral Manipulation. Practiced by only a handful of osteopathic physicians, and generally not accepted by the majority of medical professionals including many osteopaths, this manipulation of the cranial area will be my topic for next week.

For now, though, I want to stress the importance of general osteopathic principles and what I am convinced is the profession's great value to human health and total health care. This is well stated in a brochure published by the American Osteopathic Association that describes osteopathy as bringing "something extra to medicine". The D.O. takes off where traditional medicine ends.

As I mentioned, the D.O. uses his hands as tool to diagnose and treat illness. Dr. Shepherd told me that by touching a patient, he can tell if a patient is in a hypertensive state, know if a woman is pregnant by feeling her pulse three days after conception, and diagnose and treat illnesses like diabetes.

"Diabetes would feel like the back of an old farmer's neck that's been in the sun for years and years. It's very, very thick, very rubbery. The higher the blood sugar, the worse it is. . . During osteopathic manipulation, you can definitely bring things under control, and you can feel it with your hands."

Osteopathy is distinguished by its integrated "whole person" treatment approach. Dr. Andrew Taylor Still, who was dissatisfied with 19th Century medicine, developed the concept in 1874. He identified the musculoskeletal system as a key element of health. He recognized the body's ability to heal itself and stressed preventative medicine, eating healthy and keeping fit. Believing that many of the medications of his day were useless or even harmful, he founded a philosophy based on concepts that date back to Hippocrates, the father of medicine. The philosophy focuses on the unity of all body parts.

The D.O. treats illness by approaching the whole body through the concept of the interdependency of all of its organs and systems. Organs not functioning properly stress and additionally damage other organs and systems. High blood pressure or lung problems will affect your heart. Osteopathic medicine also considers your emotions. Stress can be at the root of a physical problem.

In his brochure, Dr. Richard Feely, also a Chicago osteopath who concentrates in musculoskeletal work, describes his profession as "the most complete form of medicine" in that its approach to human health is to treat the whole person-body, mind and spirit. His private practice offers a personal touch that he feels is missing in many physicians' offices today.

I advise people who are spending a lot of time going to doctors, yet failing to get the help they need, to seek an osteopath with an integrated-medical outlook. A good place to find an osteopath in your community is to check with the American Academy of Osteopaths or the American Osteopathic Association, which has a directory of osteopathic physicians by zip code on its Web site.

Ways to take heart in a frightening world

Dr. Singer,

Since 911, I have been afraid for my family, my children and myself in addition to the rest of the people out there. For several months now, I have been handling it pretty well because nothing has been imminent. Now, war is imminent and it is making me long for the days when the scarier thing we had to face were the monthly bills! A friend of mine told me that years ago, she saw a column by you about doing things to focus on every day good things. If you have it accessible, can you re-run it because I'm sure there are lots of us out here who could use it right about now! S.S.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi S.S.,

Your fear is completely understandable and I am so sorry that any of us have to feel this way. We are all very much on edge right now and no one really knows what will happen. I also think back to even just a few years ago when any of the stuff we are seeing now would have been something you would have seen in a Stephen King movie or novel. Now it is everyday news.

Hopefully, by the time this column is being read, we will all be safer and feeling more secure. Before I go further, I and my family want to wish sincere thanks to our troops who are risking their lives to protect us. We are praying for our country, troops and their families! Hope you are too!

In the meantime, I have searched and found the column I think you were referring to. It was a Thanksgiving column written about 4 years ago about giving thanks and noticing the everyday miracles. I have read it and added some things to it that apply now. I hope it helps you, but if your stress level becomes more than you can take, I would advise you to get some counseling about it. Even though your stress is completely normal right now, talking it out might help you relax a bit. Enjoy and keep the faith!

Dear Readers,
With Thanksgiving coming up soon, it makes sense to look at some of the great things in life to be thankful for! For most of us, it feels like life is extremely hurried. If it isn't the kids' lessons, it's work. If it isn't work, it's fixing dinner. If it isn't fixing dinner, it's the kid's sports events, etc. etc. etc. Sometimes, it becomes difficult to focus on the great things in life because were running to catch up with life! I wanted to do a column for you on some of the great things that I have felt so thankful for in my own life that have really helped me to see things clearly. I think these will inspire you like they have inspired me. If you try to at least think of these things once a day to once a week you will feel what I am talking about. Here they are...

• Spend as much time as you have with your loved ones. Make sure to enjoy your family and friends as much as possible. Time is the greatest gift we have and sometimes, we squander it in all the wrong places. Make priorities correctly!

• Take a good hard look at your children's faces and see how incredibly beautiful they are! How amazing and miraculous their lives are and what joy they bring into our lives. If they are acting out or having problems, try and remember back to a time when they weren't and you had more patience. Fall in love with them again because they are truly and deeply lovable! Sometimes we take this for granted and don't look closely enough!

• In a similar vein, if you have dogs or cats, take some time and look at how beautiful they are. Look at their markings and how their fur flows. Also, if you take some time and sit with them by yourself, you can find an incredible peace. They say that animals can actually lower your blood pressure! I believe it and have experienced it!

• Think of someone you care a great deal about and put their needs before your own even though it is inconvenient for you! Notice the look on their face when they know it. Notice how it feels to have given that.

• Take a moment out to actually look hard at a beautiful sunset. The last one I did this with was the most incredible shades of pink and purple I have ever seen. I actually took the kid I was working with at the time and took him over to the window with me to look at this incredible sunset. It really was awe-inspiring!

• Get together with someone (your kids) just to laugh really hard! I don't mean twittering over a joke. I mean the kind of laughter that you feel all over your body. Not only is it a great feeling, but it is supposed to be a great workout for the heart muscles!

The bottom line is that we are here on this earth to enjoy our lives. Life is short and is meant to be lived every moment. Sometimes, we end up on "auto pilot" to the point that we miss so much. I have had weeks go by and I can't believe the week has actually gone by already. It is important to take little breathers and actually look around at who and what is there. I remember that when I got married, my beautician told me to make a point of asking my Matron of Honor to tap me on the shoulder at certain points during the reception so that I could wake up and become aware of everything that was going on around me at that very moment. She told me that if I didn't do that, the whole day would be gone in a snap and I might not have stopped to look. I did have my Matron of Honor do that for me and it was the best thing that I could have done! I'm suggesting that these little things and others can be ways of you tapping yourself on the shoulder to look around and see what great things there are to be experienced in your life!

CLASS AA SUPER SECTIONALS

The 'best of times' the 'worst of times'

Zion-Benton Township High School's Adam Duty, a junior, looks to the scoreboard in the final seconds off the clock, and the season.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

By JOHN PHELPS & STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporters

And then there was one. To get this far in the post-season is a feat in itself. Both Johnsbury and Zion-Benton were the last two area teams standing. Both were vying for their respective school's first-ever trip to State and the Elite Eight. Johnsbury, the smallest school in the Class AA boy's State basketball tournament with a shade over 1,000 students, continued to mow down opponents. The Skyhawks manhandled East Moline United 51-22 in the Moline super-sectional to earn the school's first-ever trip to Peoria and the Elite Eight. They will play Glenbrook North in the last quarterfinal game on Fri., March 21, at 8:15 p.m.

Meanwhile, speaking of Glenbrook North, the Spartans upended the Zion-Benton Zee-Bees 71-55 in the Loyola super-sectional. It marked the final game for senior All-State guard Andre White, who became Zion's all-time leading scorer early this season. Here's a closer look at both games.

Bees' magical run ends

After they had won the Waukegan sectional for the third time in five years, the Zion-Benton boy's basketball team was feeling it. A first-ever trip to Peoria and the Elite Eight, that is. But there was one final hurdle for the North Suburban Conference champion Bees: a much taller Glenbrook North team.

"Height definitely controls a lot," said All-State guard Andre White, who netted 15 points in what turned out to be his final game after Zion fell to the Spartans, 71-55. It was White's final game. He finished with 1,845 career points while becoming Zion's all-time leading scorer earlier in the year. He wound up finishing fourth on the all-time Lake County scoring list.

"That's life," continued White, who is headed to the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee next fall. "It's very disappointing. But we gave it our all. Their (Glenbrook North) height really got us tonight. And their zone defense slowed us down."

White hit the nail right on the head. Glenbrook North (22-8) owned the boards to the tune of a 32-15 advantage in racing away with a 71-55 victory and the schools fourth trip downstate. The Spartans also used a stifling 2-

3 zone on defense in the second half, keeping Zion from penetrating, which it likes to do. The result was several forced shots for the Bees, who didn't have a bad night shooting with 50 field goal shooting. Thing is, they were one-and-done numerous times down the court.

"Give them credit," said Andre's cousin and fellow senior, MacArthur White. "Even though we lost, the thing that really stands out this season is the teamwork and togetherness we had." That zone defense of Glenbrook North kept Zion from penetrating. MacArthur, who usually shares inside scoring duties with junior Quincy Rogers, was held to just four points.

Speaking of The Truth, Quincy Rogers helped vault Zion to a 31-28 lead at half by scoring 11 of his 19 points in the first 16 minutes. But the Spartans closed the third quarter with a 15-5 run and the lead for good at 49-38 by quarter's end. Zion head coach, Don Kloth, whose program has won 20 games or more the past seven seasons, said the end of the third period set the tone for the remainder of the game.

"They hit a three-pointer at the buzzer (to end the third)," said the coach. "That turned an eight-point game into a 11-point deficit. We couldn't overcome that. But I'm very proud of our guys. They kept battling, just like they have all season."

Zion did in fact have a season to be proud of, winning the Mather Thanksgiving tournament and Luther North Christmas Classic. Sandwiched in between the Bees' only two losses to Libertyville and then Grant was a 17-game winning streak.

"That's a very good basketball team," said Glenbrook North's Eytan Azaria, who poured in a game-high 23 points. "It was a battle for everything, kind of like a football game. They (Zion) are very athletic and physical. We just found our groove and were able to use our height and zone defense to our advantage." —John Phelps

Skyhawks poised to leave mark

There were still about 20 seconds left on the clock when the crowd started to gather at one end of The MARK of the Quad Cities, with a large area set aside for the facility's other use, hockey games.

With the clock ticking to 18, 16, 15 seconds, then the final 7, 6, 5, the crowd neared the court, ready to celebrate. A 51-22 dismantling of East Moline United sent the confetti dropping on the Johnsbury fans at mid-court.

The 31-1 Skyhawks are going to Peoria. The win, witnessed by 5,200 fans in downstate Illinois, caused some players to take a trip down memory lane and what brought them to the final eight.

"I started to play basketball in third grade. I went to Montini Grade School in McHenry, but came to Johnsbury my freshman year. This is a great bunch of guys. There is something really special in the way that we jelled. People think that it is all about John (Smith), but we have so many people who can step up," said senior forward Adam Vesley. "We're playing our top basketball. We were so jacked up since Friday (the sectional title win over Rockford Boylan)."

Head Coach Ed Sennett took in the jubilation, and once again capped off the cutting-down-the-net ceremony.

"This is a great feeling. But this just did not happen overnight. It started four years ago, when I brought up a freshman guard to sit on the bench for the varsity games. I told him (Brad Preston) that he would not play, but to just 'sponge it up.' Then John Smith and Shane Neiss came along."

Smith started slow, but contributed 14 points as well as in many other areas. He intimidated the Panthers with seven blocked shots and 10 rebounds. He made 8-for-10 from the free-throw line, one team strength on a 14-16 night.

Johnsbury's defense and rebounding ruled in Moline. The only thing united about the opposition was their awe for the upstarts from the north.

Adam Vesley had 14 points and six rebounds. Shane Neiss had five points and five rebounds with one three-pointer. Junior Mike Walsh contributed five points and four rebounds, while George Salminen, a junior forward, jump-started the offense early with six quick points.

The Panthers, a 17-win team, could only manage 9-of-38 field goal shooting and 1-7 from the line.

"This summer we knew we were going to be good because we were 21-7 last year and had everyone back. The Round Lake game (the team's only loss) was not us. It made us better because it gave us a taste of losing," said Smith, who is likely to play Division I next year.

Then there is Preston, the steady point guard who had five points. "Brad has been great all year," Smith said.

"Our composure held us together. We weren't rattled," Preston said.

"It feels great. I have been in education since 1979 and with Ed eight years. It is a dream come true," said assistant coach, Rick Bailey, who lifted his son Liam up to help with the net cutting.

Sennett, a math teacher who gave his students a test in class Tuesday, believes his team has the equation of heart, fundamentals and community support to make some waves in Peoria.

For the second straight game night, the jubilation of JHS fans meant some overtime for security personnel at a facility far from McHenry County. The three-hour ride home did not seem so long. —Steve Peterson

Long-range bombers Peoria-bound

Prior to the start of the sectional title game between Zion-Benton and Libertyville, fans were treated to some pretty sharp long-range shooting.

In the COUNTRY Insurance Three-point shootout, four players earned tickets to Peoria and the State finals this weekend.

Each player had 45 seconds to make as many three-point shots from three different racks consisting of five basketballs. The racks were placed at three different spots from around the perimeter. Eight players, through regional and sectional semifinal qualifying were ready to light up the scoreboard.

Qualifying included Bryan Pilkronen of Stevenson, making 11 out of 15 shots. Ben Engstrom of Libertyville was next with nine, followed by Wauconda's Alex Wallace and Zion's Dontrell Bowers, both with eight.

Others competing and just missing heading to Peoria included five made shots by Ian Peckler, who had quit a backing by the Zion faithful. Peckler's father is an instructor at Zion. Steve Gyarmaty also connected on 5-of-15 shots, as did Vernon Hills' Ian Peckler. Adam Duty of Zion finished with 4-out-of-15.

Preliminary rounds for the State finals are set for Thurs., March 20 at Carver Arena in Peoria. From there, the finalists will vie for 'King of The Hill' on Sat., March 22.

WAUKEGAN SECTIONAL

Over-achieving Wildcats knew their roles

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

You could see the tired look on their faces as the final period wore on. Exhaustion turned to desperation. Or vice-versa. A great run was coming to an end for the Libertyville Wildcats.

Great in a sense that nobody expected them to be playing Zion-Benton for a sectional title. The last time Libertyville, the second seed in the regionals, was in this position was 1994 when the late Matt Heldman was busy leading them to fourth place in the State.

But now, after that nine-year absence, the 'Cats had returned to Lake County basketball's upper echelon.

"We lost three starters (Pete Silvestri, Joel Castner, Dan Werly) to graduation and weren't expected to do too much at the beginning of the season," said senior point-guard and floor leader Austin Yarc. "We're disappointed we lost tonight, but in the same token, we're very satisfied with how far we got."

Yarc, a four-year varsity player, was, and has been, the floor leader all season. He penetrated and dished. He took off-balance shots. When that wasn't working, he'd fire away from three-point range, all to the tune of 10 points and seven assists per clip. Unfortunately, the last act of magic came against Zion, who ended up pulling away for a 64-53 victory before a jam-packed crowd at the 'Dog Pound'. It was Zion's second sectional title in three years. Yarc was limited to six points in the contest after hitting for 15 in the semifinal win over Lake Forest.

For Yarc and Libertyville, it was a memorable 23-6 campaign, which included a tie for second (with Warren) in the North Suburban Conference's Lake Division. Things didn't start out well at all, though, for the 'Cats. The team was 1-3 to begin the year as senior post-player Ryan Schwerman was sidelined with a broken wrist.

"He was a big part of our post game," said Libertyville head coach, Jim Goodwin. "When he returned, we kind of took off. With Ryan in there, everyone settled into their roles."

The Cats had a sound perimeter game to go along with Schwerman, Jared Taylor and Dan Gibbons pounding away in the paint. Senior Ben Engstrom (12 ppg), Yarc and Gibbons were largely responsible for that. Engstrom finished the year sixth in the County in three pointers made (48). Yarc was tied for eighth (31). Matt Zurek and Schwerman could also step out anytime and shoot the 3-ball.

When Schwerman returned to the lineup, the 'Cats rolled off 10 straight wins. That included handing Zion one of its two losses on the season, a 60-50 victory at Libertyville Dec. 14. The team also turned some heads in winning the always-competitive Wheeling Christmas tournament, where they were 5-0. Yarc was the tourney MVP.

"That was kind of where we knew this was going to be a good year," said Goodwin. "We moved and shot the ball well and played good defense."

Goodwin and the 'Cats' offense was certainly no stranger to scoring. They averaged close to 60 points per game. Schwerman will be missed next year, but his 14 points and seven boards per contest should be filled nicely by senior-to-be Gibbons, who tore it up in the two sectional games at Waukegan, with his hustle, scoring and rebounding. He hit for a team-high 16 points against the Bees before fouling out late in the game.

Besides Dan Gibbons, the rest of the returning players will include Kyle Bruett, Steve Olson, Curtis Goodwin, Chris Jansen, Kevin Morkin and Jesse Conrad. Goodwin showed tenacity in the Zion game, with some pressure defense on the Bees' All-State guard in Andre White. Jansen was a spark as well off the bench. Joining Yarc, Engstrom, Schwerman and Zurek of those graduating this spring includes the likes of Bill Hogan, David Branham, Jared Taylor and Jim Gibbons.

Hogan usually came in for Yarc or Zurek. His tenacity and fighting for loose balls were among his biggest strengths. Taylor, usually first off the bench for the starting post players, showed inside prowess. He had a career and season-high 22 in a hotly contested win over Hersey back in January.

"I'm very proud of the guys," said Goodwin. "We had a great run. Hopefully we can build on that for the future."

WAUKEGAN SECTIONAL

Yarc says 'on guard', White says 'touché'

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Zion-Benton All-State senior guard Andre White isn't shy when it comes to a little friendly trash talking.

Just ask Libertyville's Austin Yarc. The two have been going back and forth on the hardwood for four years now.

And the latest chapter, the grand finale, unfolded last week. Call it destiny.

"When I went to watch him (Andre and Zion) at the North Suburban title game (against Stevenson), he was pretty cocky and confident that they would beat us if we played again," said Yarc. "I told him, we have a date set. It's March 14 at Waukegan."

Guess what, Yarc was right. The stage happened to be a fitting end between the two top teams in the county this past season.

It was also a fitting finale between two of the best guards, now good friends, in the county, and arguably, the state.

"We've become great friends," added Yarc. "I love watching Andre play. He's fast, quick, he can shoot, and he's a great passer. Being mentioned with him as one of the top guards is an honor."

Andre White's track record certainly speaks for itself. The four-year varsity starter and two-time All-Stater can light up the scoreboard in a heartbeat. He averaged 18 points per game. But his unselfish play was what really stood out this year. He passed a lot more, as to try and get everyone involved in the offense. The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee-bound White finished right behind Yarc for the county lead in assists per game with five. Yarc handed out seven.

Now Yarc and White didn't guard each other in Zion's 64-53 victory at Waukegan last week. There's a good reason.

"I think we'd have too much foul trouble," said a smiling Yarc. "Plus, if you want to see some offense, we can't guard each other because we both play pretty tight defense."

Yarc, the humble one that he is, brought plenty of ammunition to the table as well.

He averaged 10 points per game. His 31 treys on the year ranked among the top-10 in the county.

Libertyville head coach, Jim Goodwin, was sometimes in awe of Yarc, especially when it came to his passing.

"He knew when to tune up the engine, whether it be taking the ball to the basket, kicking it out or scoring," the coach said.

"But his passing—he made numerous passes that made you just look and say, 'how did he do that!'"

White, though giving his buddy grief from time to time, has nothing but the utmost respect for Yarc.

"We're very similar with our games," said White, Zion's all-time leading scorer with over 1,800 points.

"We can both score and like to have the ball in our hands with the game on the line."

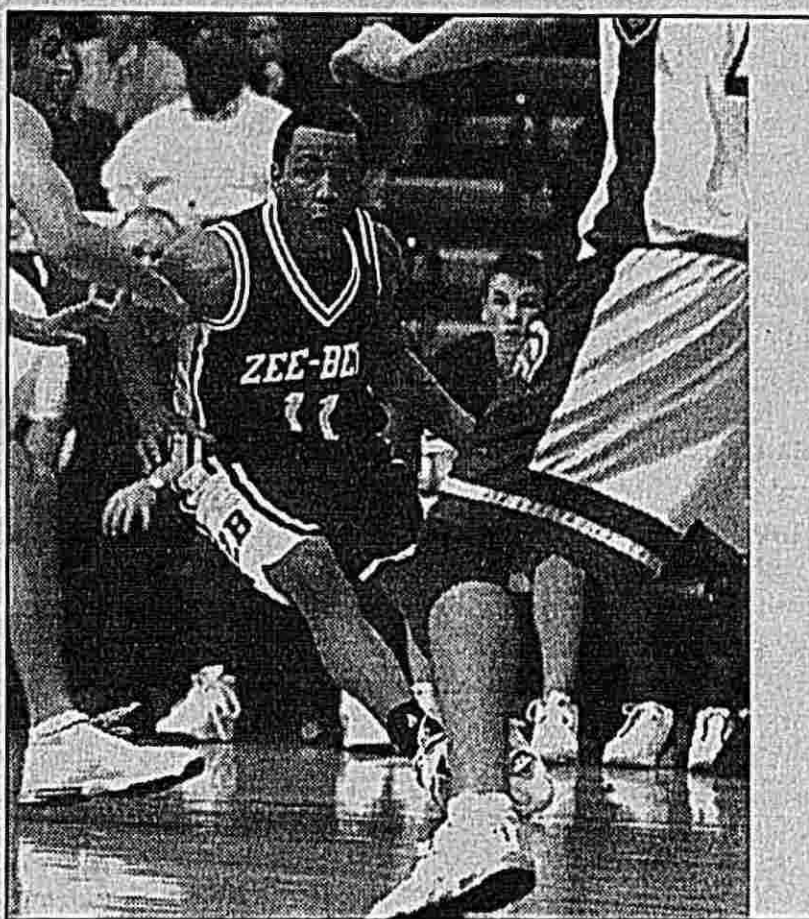

It was White who had the last laugh in the sectional finals, though. He hit for a game-high 20 points, including 9-for-10 free throws, eight of which came in the final period that helped keep Yarc and the 'Cats at bay.

For Yarc, the always smiling, boyish looking kid netted only six. But it was the experience of playing in that big game, against Andre and the Bees. In other words, the best of the best.

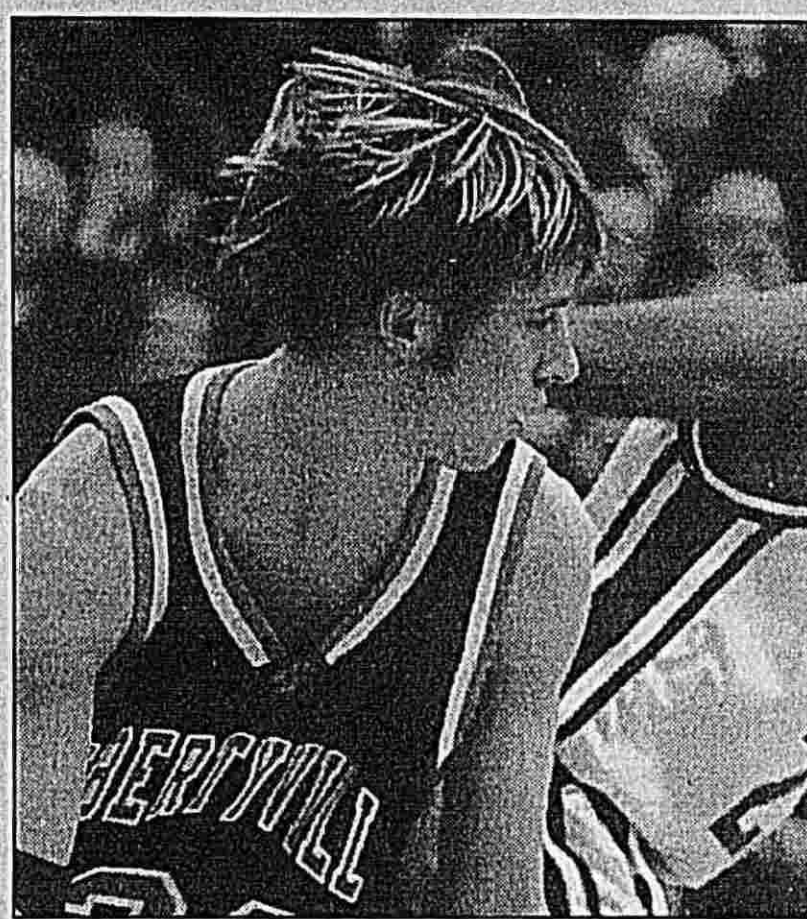

"I told my mom four years ago that I dreamt of being in this position—playing for a sectional title my senior year and against Andre," he said. "I couldn't have scripted it any better."

As the saying goes, 'birds of a like feather flock together'.

Austin Yarc and Andre White play for separate schools, but their games are very similar. Their marks have been left for others to emulate.

Hall doors open for Beck

On the heels of yet another successful season, College of Lake County Head women's soccer coach Dave Beck has been inducted into the Region IV Hall of Fame. Beck is also expected to be inducted into the Skyway Conference Hall of Fame sometime this spring.

Beck was the driving force behind the establishment of the nationally ranked men and women's soccer programs at the College of Lake County.

Since their inception, Beck has coached his teams to seven Skyway Conference championships, making him a seven-time Skyway Conference Coach of the Year winner.

Beck's teams have also appeared in 10 Region IV championship games, for which Beck has twice been named Region IV Coach of the Year. Last season, the Lancers finished 14-6-3. They repeated as conference champs while finishing second in the State tournament.

During his 10 years as coach of either the men or women's team's, CLC has produced three All-Americans: Joe Tarver (1991-92), Sandi Coutts (1999) and Nicole Stefani (2002).

Overall, Beck's record at CLC stands at 172-84-10.

Beck has also served as the Region IV Men's Soccer Chairman.

Beck joins five other College of Lake County representatives that have been inducted into the Region IV Hall of Fame. They include current Head Baseball Coach and CLC Athletic Director Gene Hanson, former men's head golf coach Doug Sherman and former Dean of Students Dr. Dan Webster. One of

If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions. *Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value. *Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare. *Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. ### Prepare for a Job Fair Before Attending

By Scott T. Fleischmann

As spring approaches, and with it comes the job fair season. The candidates who are most successful at these events have two things in common. Firstly, they plan and prepare to get the right interviews. Then they know what to expect when they arrive at the fair, and how to make the most of the available time.

The job fair is an opportunity to meet with recruiters immediately. This shortened process eliminates the first step, the application. Normally, one needs to send in a resume or fill out an application (or both) before getting an opportunity to meet those whom will make the hiring decision. At a job fair, candidates meet the recruiters before they have even seen the resume.

With that in mind, it is important to make a good first impression so that the recruiter will want to proceed with the interviewing and hiring processes. Here are some ideas on how to prepare for a job fair.

Know the companies that will be attending. This information can normally be found in the newspapers that sponsor the event. If the advertisement for the job fair does not list the attending companies, look at all of the employment ads. Those who are attending will normally identify themselves in those ads.

After identifying the companies, go to their web sites to find out more about them, and the skills that they need. Based on that information prioritize the companies that sound like good possibilities, those that need your skills and provide the environment, benefits and culture that meet your needs. Then make sure to stop at all of those companies during the fair.

Prepare resumes long before the event. Have them printed on good quality paper. Print enough of them so that you will have enough. Plan to bring 25% more resumes than the number of companies that will attend the fair, just in case some companies want more than one resume.

Getting to meet the recruiters before applying is a significant advantage only when the candidate makes a good first impression. The first step in making the desired impact is good grooming. In addition to normal hygiene, plan to get a haircut or trim several days before the job fair. Shoes should be clean and polished.

For men, make sure that fingernails are clean and neatly clipped. Facial hair needs to be conservatively trimmed. Women who use nail polish should do so conservatively. Jewelry should be simple, not gaudy or overused. I recommend the rule of seven for jewelry, never wear more than seven pieces of jewelry. An earring in each ear, a watch, a ring and a necklace would allow two other accents.

Plan to dress at the upper echelon for your profession. A good test is to dress at the level of the manager to whom you report. For those in a profession, that is probably a conservative suit (for both men and women.) For those in the trades, that could be clean jeans or work pants with a casual shirt. If in doubt, it never hurts to dress slightly better. Plan to get dry cleaning or laundry and pressing done before the event to avoid a last minute rush.

That covers the preparation for the job fair. Next time we will explore what to expect at the fair and how to get the best results when you attend.
